FAIRBANKS CO-STARS WITH KING—Apparently as pleased as any commoner, King George, left, shakes hands with Lieut. Douglas Fairbanks Jr., aboard unit of U.S. fleet now in British waters. (Passed by censor.)

Final Bulletins

Short Wave Station Urged at Once

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons radio committee, in a special interim report tabled in the House this afternoon, recommended establishment in Canada "at the earliest possible moment of a high-powered short wave broadcasting station."

The committee suggested the station be owned and financed by the government and operated by the CBC.

The committee reported it had received estimates placing the cost of a 50-kilowatt system at $800,000 for capital outlay and $500,000 a year for maintenance.

Cree Joins C.W.A.C.

REGINA (CP)—Mary Grey, 21, of Leask, Sask., today became the first Indian girl to join the CWAC in Saskatchewan. A full blooded Cree, she came from the Muskog Lake reservation to join the ranks of the corps as a cook.

Halibut Price Soars

PRINCE RUPERT (CP)—The highest halibut prices in years were paid here today when the Seattle boat Yaquina received 15 and 20 cents per pound for a 26,000 pound catch.

2 Ships Sunk

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. navy announced this afternoon that two small merchant vessels, a British ship and a Norwegian, had been torpedoed in the Caribbean and survivors had landed at a Caribbean port.

Spinney Coming

OTTAWA (CP)—G. W. Spinney, chairman of the National War Finance Committee, was en route west today for a speaking and organization tour in connection with promotion of voluntary savings. He will visit Victoria next Monday and Vancouver next Tuesday and Wednesday.

Beer Restrictions

MELBOURNE (AAP)—A special national security order was issued today to prevent trafficking in beer, the output of which has been restricted throughout Australia.

The order places on the breweries the onus of seeing that beer purchased by hotels actually is delivered and sold there.

Paris Factory Burned

LONDON (CP)—The Moscow radio today quoted a Vichy report saying a huge fire in a big factory near Paris resulted in several of the departments being burned down and large numbers of engines, lorries, transformers and other supplies about to be sent to Germany being destroyed.

The broadcast quoted Vichy as saying an investigation established that the fire was a result of an act of incendiarism.

Grave Diggers on Strike

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Five of eight grave-diggers at Mount Pleasant Cemetery here, on strike since last Friday for a $2 increase in their $20-a-week pay, returned briefly Monday because there were four burials. But after their work had been completed, they returned home and still were idle today.

Russian Forces Fall Back at Voronezh

5 Servicemen In This Area Die in Crashes

Five servicemen of this district were killed and six injured in accidents while on duty last night and this morning involving the crash of an R.C.A.F. two-motored bomber at the Bellingham, Wash., airport and the overturning of a plane on the island Highway at 9:30 today.

Three of the dead and four of the injured were R.C.A.F. personnel, the others being members of the Victoria Rifles of Canada, originally from Quebec, now stationed here.

The two-motored bomber in which the seven R.C.A.F. men were taking a training flight from Patricia Bay, crashed and burst into flames as it was taking off from the Bellingham airport late last night.

The injured, in hospital at Bellingham are: L.A.C. C. R. Merredew, Shoal Harbor, Sidney; P.O. J. C. Olsen, 1102 Garnet Street, Regina; Sgt. Pilot D. P. McBean, Smithers, B.C., and L.A.C. Beatty, Oshaw, Ont.

Officials at Patricia Bay said L.A.C. Merredew had been living at Sidney only since coming to serve at Patricia Bay.

No other details of the plane crash have been disclosed.

Air Minister Power Here

Canadian Soldiers Serving in Alaska

Canadian soldiers as well as R.C.A.F. personnel are stationed in Alaska to help United States forces repel any attempted invasion of that territory by the Japanese, it was revealed here today in a statement issued by Air Minister C. G. Power and Air Marshal L. S. Broadner, chief of the air staff. With them was Air Commodore F. Vernon Heakes, air member of the permanent joint board on air defence, all three having arrived in Victoria early today after a flying trip from Ottawa to Whitehorse and Alaska.

Mr. Power visited all Canadian squadrons and army units in Alaska and found them to be in fine fettle and keen on the opportunity of meeting the Jap whenever and wherever he can be found. Pilots, air crews and other personnel are all in splendid condition, he said, the food being good and the quarters excellent in view of the fact that they are now in a theatre of operations.

International Basis For Post-war Ruhr

LONDON (CP)—The Archbishop of Canterbury, Most Rev. William Temple, proposed today that the industrial resources of Germany's Ruhr Valley should be worked by an international syndicate after the war in order to find another use for its potential war output.

"The problem of Germany consists of two things," he said at a Foreign Press Association luncheon. "One is what we call Prussian tradition; the other is the immense war potential which exists in the Ruhr district."

"Steps must be taken to render the Prussian tradition ineffective and there must also be some other use found for all the war potential which the Ruhr industry constitutes."

"I am very much attracted by the suggestion that the industrial resources of that part of the world, together with some of the neighbor countries beyond the frontier of the Reich, should be worked by an international syndicate."

He said that whether such a syndicate should be on a basis of public or private ownership was a matter for future decision.

Fight Enters Sixth Year

Japs Lose 2,500,000 In 5 Years of War

CHUNGKING (AP)—The Japanese have suffered casualties of 1,000,000 dead and 1,500,000 wounded in five years of war in China, an army spokesman said today as the embattled Chinese went into the sixth year of their war, cheered by the blows struck recently by United States air forces against the Japanese invaders.

The Chinese in addition have taken 29,924 prisoners during this five-year period in which 14 major engagements and 10,375 minor engagements were fought, the spokesman said. He estimated 900,000 Japanese troops were on duty in China, and the Japanese could put 1,000 planes into the air.

Throughout China, the start of the six years of war was marked with mass meetings, parades and sporting events. In Chungking, free shows were given for soldiers and policemen, and restaurants and shops reduced prices for the occasion.

Speakers reaffirmed the country's determination to drive the Japanese from Chinese soil. Gen. Chiang Kai-shek, who Monday night declared in a broadcast "China no longer stands alone," and "the collapse of the enemy will be apparent" in the near future, spent the day reading dispatches from the front and performing his usual military duties, as he has for the last five years.

From many parts of the world came messages of greeting and good wishes to the Chinese commander-in-chief.

Nazi Papers Say Canada Cracking

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mrs. Tarrant Guernsey, who was captured by the Germans from the Egyptian liner Zamzam, torpedoed in the south Atlantic April 17, 1941, said here today that German newspapers are "full of stories of Canada splitting up over conscription."

"I saw big newspaper posters in Berlin declaring Canada was preparing to cut its ties with the British Empire on the conscription issue," she said in an interview. "They certainly are making capital of the conscription problem in Quebec. But I think it is Germany, not Canada, that is going to crack first. There are definite hints of that. The war in Russia has been a terrible strain on the German people."

When the Zamzam was sunk, Mrs. Guernsey was en route to South Africa to join her husband, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Guernsey of Vancouver. She spent more than a year in a German concentration camp near Stuttgart, and as a closely-watched enemy alien was allowed technical freedom in Berlin.

Mrs. Guernsey was freed in July in an exchange of prisoners, and landed in New York recently on the diplomatic exchange liner Drottningholm. She termed the prison in which she was first held in Germany as "rather gruesome."

PM Editor Scores His Draft Board

NEW YORK (CP)—Ralph M. Ingersoll, editor and publisher of the newspaper PM, accused his draft board in an open letter today of attempting to draft him because of prejudice against PM.

A major portion of the newspaper's front page headlines was devoted to the letter and the next three pages contained the text and an explanation by Ingersoll, who said in an editorial preface that he was ready to go into the army or continue as editor, but added:

"What I am kicking about is the decision being made by a draft board which has betrayed prejudice in my case—apparently because it doesn't like PM."

Classified A-1 by his local draft board, Ingersoll appeared for induction June 24 only to find that this had been delayed because of an appeal for deferment by Marshall Field, owner of PM, who said Ingersoll was indispensable to the paper's continuance.

The editor was scheduled to appear before the board tonight for a new hearing to determine his status.

Fifty pairs of starlings, imported in 1890 and 1891 from Europe, are probably the ancestors of all the starlings in America today.

Japanese invader today with a renewed plea that the Pacific rather than Europe be made the United Nations' "second front."

Speaking from the Chungking government, Maj. Gen. Chu Shih-ming, military attaché, declared the United States and China could knock out the Japanese this year if full American power were concentrated in the Pacific.

"A force of only 500 planes of all types would enable China to launch an offensive," he said. "The facilities, including gasoline, are still available. Despite Japanese advances, bases remain from which Japan can be bombed."

"If the Japanese are allowed time to consolidate their gains, it may take a very long time to defeat them, and meanwhile the United Nations would never be able to throw their full strength into a European second front."

"Russia is sure to stay in the fight whether or not a second front is set up, but there is always the danger that China will be knocked out."

"There is little prospect of defeating Hitler this year but crushing the Japanese would be a long step toward beating the Nazis. It is sound strategy to hit the weaker foe first, also if Japan is disposed of, the problem of supplying Russia would be solved."

Reviewing China's five years of war, at an embassy press conference, Gen. Chu told questioners "very few" planes are being flown into his beleaguered country, and American financial aid is of little direct help to the war effort.

The Japanese, he charged, have used mustard or tear gas more than 800 times against Chinese forces, and have employed germs against civilians.

BRITISH BAG 3 NAZI PLANES

LONDON (CP)—British bombers mined enemy waters Monday night and a Nazi bomber was destroyed by a fighter plane on "intruder" patrol over occupied France, it was announced today. Adverse weather prevented the R.A.F.'s main squadrons from raiding Germany herself.

In all, the Germans lost three planes in the night operations. Besides the bomber, a fighter was downed by the British mine-sowing armada and another bomber in a Nazi raid on Britain. Two British planes are missing.

A few enemy planes ranged the northeast English coast for about an hour Monday night, dropping bombs at several places, but casualties were few and damage "nowhere extensive," the government said. Hostile planes also were over the south coast of Wales, but there were no reports of bombs having fallen.

(The German high command asserted "strong bomber formations" raided Middlesbrough on the northeast coast of England.)

Germans Claim 430,000 Prisoners

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts, AP)—A special report by the German high command today said Crimean operations from Sept. 21, 1941, to the fall of Sevastopol cost the Russians 430,000 prisoners, 1,198 tanks and 2,012 guns.

In the heavy fighting for Sevastopol from June 7 to July 4 the Russians lost 30,000 to 40,000 dead, the high command said.

Total German losses in the same period were listed at 872 officers and 23,239 men. These included 190 officers and 4,147 men killed, 11 officers, 7,580 men missing and the remainder wounded.

Between June 2 and July 4 the Russians lost 123 planes in aerial combat and 18 on the ground, while German losses were 31, it was claimed.

Soviet naval losses were listed as four destroyers, four submarines, two 10,000-ton steamships, one 5,000-ton transport, two smaller transports and numerous coastal vessels and freighters.

Britain Censors News

LONDON (CP)—A last-minute censorship was imposed today on the disclosure of a spectacular development in Britain's anti-aircraft defence after the London Daily Mail had protested against the revelation.

(This was not the new wire-trailing rocket, used to tangle enemy planes, which was officially announced earlier today.)

Details of the new secret weapon, the result of five years of experimentation, had been released for morning newspapers when the censorship was imposed with the explanation that "new instructions have been issued."

HER HUNCH WAS RIGHT—Mrs. Gerda Melend, right, 24-year-old Chicago widow, "had a hunch there was something wrong" with Herbert Haupt, left, 22-year-old Chicago youth to whom she became engaged last week. F.B.I. concurred.

Chaloult Trial In Second Day

MONTREAL (CP)—Crown Prosecutor Gerald Fauteux rested his case today in the trial of Rene Chaloult, Liberal member of the Quebec Legislative Assembly for Lotbiniere. It was the start of the second day of a trial in the Court of Sessions here on a charge laid under the Defence of Canada Regulations.

Mr. Fauteux's decision, made after three witnesses had testified, came as a surprise. Defence Counsel Philippe Monette immediately asked Judge Edouard Archambault to declare lunch recess, saying the Crown's decision was "abrupt," and the defence needed time to prepare its case.

Blair Fraser of the Montreal Gazette said that Mr. Chaloult had indicated his satisfaction when Mayor Negro of the same newspaper read back notes he had taken of Mr. Chaloult's speech here May 19. Mr. Fraser attended the meeting "on his own," and was present when Mr. Negro spoke to Mr. Chaloult after the address.

Judge Archambault sustained an objection made by Mr. Fauteux when Defence Counsel Fernand Choquette asked Mr. Fraser if he had the same ideas as those given by Mr. Chaloult in his address.

Other Crown witnesses heard were Constables J. Alphonse Van Eslande and Ovide Tasse, both of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. Constable Van Eslande said that a substantial report of Mr. Chaloult's speech was contained in the brief attached to the complaint, and had been drafted by himself and two other members of the R.C.M.P. immediately following the meeting.

Plan Settlement For 25,000 Soldiers

OTTAWA (CP)—The land settlement committee of the House of Commons today gave final approval to Bill 63—the measure under which it is proposed to place an estimated 25,000 men on the land after service in the armed forces.

The committee then turned attention to the Soldier Settlement Act of 1919.

George Murchison, director of Soldier Settlement, presented a brief outlining difficulties experienced under the present bill.

He suggested the bill should be amended to provide:

1. Administrative power to extend the life of existing contracts beyond 1946.
2. Closer co-operation with administration of the War Veterans' Allowance Act.
3. Reduction in the rates of interest from 5 to 3½ per cent.
4. Consideration of wages and means to adjust contracts of soldier settlers which were dealt with under Farmers' Creditors Arrangement Act prior to July 1, 1938.

Little Harvest Leave For Canadian Soldiers

OTTAWA (CP)—Defence Minister Ralston said today that "any information emanating from National Defence headquarters to the effect that harvest leave will be granted this year" is "unauthorized and incorrect."

"Intensified training and operational requirements make it extremely doubtful if any harvest leave can be granted, and if granted at all it will be on a most restricted basis," the minister said.

Living Bonus May Be Extended

OTTAWA (CP)—An increase in the cost of living index, announced by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, indicates strong possibility that cost of living bonuses will be adjusted upward next month, Labor Department officials say.

The official index advanced from 116.1 at May 1 to 116.7 at June 1 and the Wartime Prices and Trade Board in a statement of the increase said it was "quite possible" a further increase would be recorded next month.

This would increase bonuses now being paid and would give small bonuses, equal to the amount of the increase, to those not at present receiving bonuses.

QUARTERLY REVIEW

Revision of the bonuses is made quarterly on the basis of an "adjusted" index which uses August 1939 as 100. Present bonuses are based on an adjusted index of 114.6 and will be subject to review when the next index is announced early in August.

The adjustment is made when the index has advanced or declined at least one full point. Increases are at the rate of 25 cents for a full point and payment is also made for fractional increases above the full point.

Should the index remain stationary in the next month the present adjusted figure of 115.9 would warrant an increase of 30 cents in the weekly bonuses now being paid.

In addition male adult employees and all employees earning basic rates of $25 or more a week not now receiving a cost of living bonus, would be eligible for a bonus of 30 cents a week.

Male employees under 21 years and female workers employed at less than $25 a week would be entitled to 1 per cent of their basic weekly rates.

BEEF RESPONSIBLE

The Wartime Prices and Trade Board said the increase in June was "very largely caused by increases in the price of beef" and brought the index for the first time to more than a full point above its level just prior to the start of the price ceiling.

The official index for Nov. 1, 1941, was 116.3 and the price ceiling came into effect Dec. 1, 1941.

The board in its statement said: "The present season is that in which prices normally reach the high point of the year. Recognizing this normal seasonal variation in prices, the board has permitted such things as beef, lamb and potatoes to rise in price, but they will decline again in the late summer and autumn."

"It is quite possible that the July 1 figure, which will be available early in August, will be slightly higher than the June 1 figure just announced. In August or subsequent months the cost of living will again decline as meats and vegetables become more plentiful and their prices follow their normal seasonal curve."

TO SPEND $38,200,000

The House also was told by Ernest Thurlie, parliamentary secretary for the Ministry of Information, that Britain will spend $8,600,000 ($38,200,000) in information services at home and abroad during the current fiscal year.

Some $4,000,000 of the ministry's budget last year was spent on publicity services, more than half of this for overseas work.

The secretary said that postal and telegraph censorship, for which $3,000,000 was spent, now is closely co-ordinated with that of the United States. This censorship, he said, has played "a notable part in dealing with activities of enemy agents both in the United States and Central America."

He said the government is considering giving the BBC an annual grant in aid of $10,000,000, an increase of $3,100,000 over the year ended March 31.

The increase has been necessitated by wartime activities which find the BBC broadcasting in 43 languages.

Lorgnettes No Use

NEW YORK (AP)—When the United States navy asked Americans to lend their binoculars for the duration, it meant binoculars—not lorgnettes. The navy has been forced to return thousands of these to misinformed donors, pointing out they are of little use to officers on the decks of bucking destroyers.

OUR CHALLENGE TO THE "U" BOAT

Canada started this war with virtually no active shipbuilding industry. To-day there are 17 major and 58 smaller yards which, with subsidiary industries, employ 40,000 men. Canada's first 10,000 tonner, launched in October last year, completed its first Atlantic voyage in February! Since then many others have been launched and the present programme calls for 172 new cargo ships costing $325,000,000. Keels for over 50 have already been laid. Before the year is out we will be launching a new ship every few days.

Over 500 Canadian industries are making components for these ships. About 95% of the material used in their production is now "made in Canada."

Not included in these figures are some 200 naval ships already launched, the large majority of them corvettes and minesweepers.

This advertisement is published as a contribution to the general knowledge of our country's war effort and as an inspiration through the days ahead. For reasons of security complete figures are not available. The facts presented, however, are impressive evidence of the growing might of Canada's war machine.

Nazis Claim Cruiser, 28 Ships Sunk

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts, AP)—The Germans today claimed the sinking of a United States heavy cruiser and 28 merchantmen out of a convoy in Arctic waters between Spitsbergen and the Norwegian North Cape.

(There was no confirmation of the German claim from any other source. In the last previous big Arctic convoy battle the Germans claimed they had sunk 18 Allied ships, when actually six were sunk.)

A special communique from Hitler's headquarters today said the convoy consisted of 38 merchant ships carrying planes, tanks, ammunition and food supplies bound for Archangel with a heavy escort of Allied warships.

The attacks on the convoy started July 2 in Arctic waters 300 to 400 miles off the north Norwegian coast. The convoy escort was said by the Germans to have included battleships, cruisers, destroyers and corvettes.

"In close co-operation, German submarines and air formations sank a heavy American cruiser and 19 merchantmen totaling 122,000 tons," the communique said. "Submarines sank nine ships totaling 70,400 tons, making a grand total of 28 ships of 192,400 tons."

"The remaining vessels were dispersed. The battle still is going on. German Red Cross planes rescued a number of American sailors."

Japs Say 8 U.S. Ships Sunk at Pearl Harbor

NEW YORK (AP)—The Tokyo radio broadcast today a Japanese navy ministry recapitulation claiming "complete results" of the Pearl Harbor attack were five United States battleships, two cruisers and one tanker sunk and four battleships, six cruisers and two destroyers damaged.

These figures, the latest in progressively advancing claims since the attack, compared with the actual losses which Navy Secretary Knox announced on Dec. 15 as one battleship, three destroyers, a target ship and a minelayer lost and one battleship and a number of other vessels damaged. One of the destroyers listed as lost—the Shaw—subsequently was repaired and is back in service.

House Expects To Vote Tonight On Conscription

OTTAWA (CP)—The government, with its House of Commons supporters sharply divided on the conscription issue, today looked hopefully for a vote at tonight's sitting on Bill 80, the measure on which that issue has been debated with some interruptions since June 10.

Monday's sitting added seven to the speeches made against the conscription-enabling bill by government supporters, and added another to the English-speaking Liberals urging immediate conscription.

In all 13 members spoke Monday. Some had already spoken on the main motion but had a second opportunity by virtue of the amendment moved by J. S. Roy, Independent, Quebec, criticizing the government for bringing in a policy that might cause dissension and internal war.

Barring last-minute changes of plans, the members are expected to conclude their speech-making tonight and leave the opportunity for Prime Minister Mackenzie King to close the debate.

Fisheries Minister Michaud, 14th cabinet minister to enter the debate, said Monday the Prime Minister had been faced with a difficult problem.

Mr. King had brought to that problem the same "patient, reasonable and tactful methods" adopted by Sir John A. Macdonald, Cartier, Laurier, and the methods of the late Sir Robert Borden "until he made the mistake of yielding to an element which caused him to bring about during the last war a policy which caused such a deep wound in the side of Canada that after 25 years it has not yet healed," Mr. Michaud said.

ALL MUST SHARE

Prime Minister Mackenzie King had followed the proper policy of prudence in including all elements in the war effort.

So long as that policy was continued "I shall give him my full support," said Mr. Michaud.

The minister said he made no fetish of conscription, but he believed the government should have the power to act as circumstances required for the security of the nation.

However, he hoped conscription would never be necessary to fill the ranks of the army.

If the method of conscription for overseas were employed before the Canadian public realized the difficulty of the situation and how necessary it would be to defend the country, "it would be suicidal instead of being helpful; it would impair our effort rather than help it."

OTHER SPEAKERS

In addition to the Fisheries Minister, J. A. Bonnier, Lib., Montreal-St. Henri, who opposed the bill; Hon. Grote Stirling, Con. Yale, and Fred Whitman, Lib., Montreal-Mount Royal, both of whom supported the measure, and Angus MacInnis, C.C.F., Vancouver East, who did not say how he would vote on the measure, participated in the debate. Mr. Stirling said the Conservatives did not believe the government had followed the proper course in respect to conscription for overseas and should have taken "energetically and courageously" such steps as it considered necessary.

Since the war started the government had proceeded "nervously and haltingly" towards a total war, he said. The extent to which the war effort had been magnificent did not appear to have been as much due to the government as to the strident expressions of public opinion from the country.

FULL DEBATE

Mr. MacInnis said his group could not oppose the bill on the basis it might cause strife within Canada. If a measure was administered equitably the will of the majority must prevail.

A reason for opposing the bill was that it was sufficiently important that it should be placed before the House before they became law. But his group felt it could not support an amendment moved by J. S. Roy, urging the House express the opinion the government bill fostered dissension which might cause an internal war.

Mr. MacInnis said there had been a "scandalous misuse" of the national war services regulations in removing a labor organizer from his work.

FIGHT FOR SURVIVAL

Mr. Whitman said that when conscription for overseas came to Canada it would be to fight for the survival of Canada. He believed that when it became necessary there would be few who would oppose it.

"I hope that the people of Canada as a whole will realize that Quebec has done its utmost to foster harmony and good understanding in Canada," said Mr. Bonnier, speaking in French.

"Conscription is contrary to the principle of the people of French-Canada. Then why persist in going ahead with it? French-Canadians have made a very good showing under the voluntary system of enlistment. If conscription for overseas service is put into effect, it will only disrupt the country instead of helping to win the war."

New Control Of Soil Drifting

GINA (CP)—A new and effective control of soil drifting which, coupled with cultural practices, has all the advantages of strip farming and at the same time shows considerable promise in controlling soil erosion, was successfully carried out in parts of Saskatchewan, the zonal entomological laboratory branch at Lethbridge has reported.

The new system, as tried in the district northwest of Swift Current, involves working the land in fairly large blocks.

Each block is divided into strips, but instead of having them all the same width strips of from 16 to 40 rods are alternated with narrow strips of from 4 to 8 rods.

When the wide strips are in fallow the narrow strips are seeded to oats or barley which do not harbor the sawfly and, consequently, the pest is eliminated from the entire block.

2 Spies Executed In Britain

LONDON (CP)—Two enemy spies—one of them a British subject—were executed today in Wandsworth Prison.

The Briton was Jose Estella Key and the other, a Belgian national, was Alphonse Timmerman.

They were convicted under the Treachery Act, a Home Office announcement said, and their appeals later were dismissed. The proceedings were in secret.

Timmerman, a 38-year-old ship's steward, entered this country last autumn posing as a refugee, but, said the announcement, "his real mission as a spy was detected before he could do any mischief."

He said he ultimately confessed he had been sent to Britain by the German secret service to try to learn naval and military secrets.

Key, 33, born at Gibraltar, operated at the British stronghold gathering information for the enemy on movements of British land and sea forces by way of the western Mediterranean fortress.

The trials took place last May and the appeals were dismissed in June.

Mrs. McKay Becomes President of Sun

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Vancouver Sun has announced Mrs. W. R. McKay, widow of R. J. Cromie, founder of the paper, will become its president and publisher, with Donald Cromie, at present managing editor, becoming general manager, and George A. Cran, business manager. The appointments are effective July 15.

Resignation of P. J. Salter as president and general manager was announced last Saturday. At the same time Robert E. Cromie retired as vice-president.

Donald Cromie has spent four of the last five years in various editorial capacities with the Sun and worked on the Toronto Star during 1941. Mr. Cran started with the Sun in 1910 and in 1921 was appointed national advertising manager, becoming director of advertising in 1934. He retains the latter post.

Clergy and Sunday school teachers met in Memorial Hall Saturday afternoon for the annual meeting of the Church of England Sunday School Teachers' Association of Victoria and district. The president, Rev. J. Blewett, and the secretary, William Moore, were re-elected to their respective offices. Ray Hadfield was elected vice-president and Miss Patricia Cumberbirch treasurer. It was decided that the executive committee and S. C. Hawkins be officers with power to add to their number. Following the meeting the members enjoyed a pleasant hour in the gardens of Bishop's Close as guests of the Bishop and Mrs. Sexton.

D.F.C. Awarded Port Arthur Flier

LONDON (CP)—Jon Earle Swingler, 23-year-old R.C.A.F. pilot officer from Port Arthur, has been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross for a successful torpedo attack on enemy shipping off the Greek harbor of Patrai last March, it was announced today.

The citation said Swingler pressed home his attack at low level, although he had to fly across the harbor in the face of heavy defensive fire both from the ship selected for the attack and from land defenses.

He released his torpedo from close range and scored a hit which was confirmed later by reconnaissance.

Swingler, a member of 38 squadron of the R.C.A.F., has completed 39 sorties, including raids on Germany, Italy, Greece and Libya and, the citation said, has "always pressed home his attacks to the greatest advantage."

It was also announced that Sqdn. Ldr. E. H. McHardy, a New Zealander who is flight commander of a Canadian Blenheim squadron of the coastal command, has been awarded a bar to his D.F.C.

"A skilful pilot and a fine leader," according to his citation, McHardy, a 22-year-old pilot, directed fighter operations in the Vaagso combined operations in Norway from the bridge of a naval vessel.

Reds Send Nazis Plenty of Pamphlets

MOSCOW (AP)—The recent British-United States Russian lease-lend agreements figure prominently in "anti-morale" leaflets with which the Red army is bombarding the German enemy, it was announced by Tass, official news agency in a review of tactics in this bloodless phase of the war.

Tass said that special plywood bombs had been developed to scatter lots of 25,000 handbills over the German lines. Many of the leaflets, "exposing the Hitler bandit gang," have been found on killed or wounded Germans, it was said.

The Red army also uses kites to fly the leaflets over the lines, displays enormous front line posters bearing anti-fighter cartoons and employs loudspeakers to relay the words of German soldiers taken prisoner.

"Passes" are issued which surrendering Germans can use to enter Russian lines. These are distributed in the same way as propaganda leaflets.

A.F.L., C.I.O. SPLIT OVER RED LABOR

WASHINGTON (AP)—The American Federation of Labor has "refused to recognize the Russian labor movement as a free labor movement," whereas the C.I.O. has considered it "on equal terms," a member of the A.F.L. executive council said today.

A British effort to obtain British-American-Soviet labor collaboration to promote the war effort has been fruitless thus far, with the A.F.L. failing to accept the proposal.

Sir Walter Citrine, secretary of the British Trades Union Congress, presented the proposal to the A.F.L. executive council last May.

Daniel Tobin, general president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters and member of the A.F.L. council, disclosed the A.F.L.'s answer, in part at least, in an article in the July issue of his union's organ, the International Teamster.

Tobin's article contended that the gulf between the C.I.O. and the A.F.L. was widening and that the attitude toward the British proposal demonstrated "the difference in viewpoint between the two organizations."

Learning Slowly

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Walter E. Kelley, a motor club official, thinks United States tourists are learning more and more about Canada. He said it has been a rare summer that has not produced a southern visitor with skis or snowshoes tied to his car, but this year "not a toboggan so far," he reports.

Hear Chamber On War Housing

Mayor Andrew McGavin told a Chamber of Commerce delegation Monday he would turn over in his mind the question of altering his position on the Wartime Housing Ltd. plan to build 100 homes in the James Bay district for V.M.D. workers.

Alderman Archie Wills and Alderman W. L. Morgan, whose negative votes together with that of the mayor killed the by-law to enter into an agreement with Wartime Housing Ltd. for the desired property, declined to commit themselves.

The delegation interviewed the mayor and two aldermen in the afternoon following a morning meeting at which they sought means of having the result of the final vote on the agreement changed.

The mayor said he and the two aldermen had stood by their position, which from the beginning, had been that structures better than the "shacks" proposed should be constructed.

"This is a distinctive city. We can't allow shantytowns," he said. Decent homes could be put up at a cost of a few hundred more than Wartime Housing proposed, he said.

SEES SLUM MENACE

"I claim it's going to create a slum condition after the war," the mayor said, adding he would not have opposed them if they had been proposed for the Songhees reserve or some point out of town.

"If you can show us it's going to hurt the war effort, I'll change my mind on the issue," the mayor added.

J. V. Johnson said the city had lost a fine machine shop through lack of housing and might lose more as work called men to other districts.

"Why doesn't the government expropriate the property?" the mayor asked.

Delegates from the chamber outlined the case for the houses, saying the V.M.D. was suffering from a labor turnover of 300 a month, faced the possibility of being unable to meet production minimums in the U.S. and consequently losing U.S. steel and attributed the trouble to the housing shortage.

Alderman Archie Wills asked why V.M.D. workers should get housing preference over the dependents of servicemen whose earnings were less than those of the shipbuilders. He traced the delay in negotiations through Wartime Housing Ltd. inaction and said Victorians definitely would not benefit from the scheme, but only workers brought in from outside points.

Alderman W. L. Morgan concurred in the remarks of the mayor and Alderman Wills. He realized Canada needed ships but did not think 100 houses would solve the ship-building problem here.

The creation of a "slab town" would depreciate the value of the region, he said. The housing scarcity was not as acute now as formerly the alderman said before noting "the cloud" under which negotiations had been conducted. Victoria contracting firms, he said he had been told, could not bid on the housing scheme.

REMEMBER Malleks 30th JULY SALE

Mayor McGavin said if 100 more houses were put up in James Bay another school would have to be built.

There were lots of undesirable features, but the pressing need was ships, said J. H. Wilson. "I agree—but why don't they put up decent houses?" asked the mayor.

Alderman Wills said the architect for the plan had agreed to improved structures but that J. Piggett, president of Wartime Housing Ltd., had vetoed his plans.

G. B. Mordie would have over-ruled objection from James Bay residents in the interests of the war effort and worried about slum conditions after.

"The government can expropriate," the mayor said.

The government would rather stop operations and move to some other location than do that, Logan Mayhew remarked.

The government didn't want to lose votes the mayor said.

British Army Trains With R.A.F.

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Churchill informed the House of Commons today that "joint training of the army and the R.A.F. already is proceeding on a considerable scale and is being continually extended."

He made the statement in response to questions.

Mr. Churchill said that last Sept. 7, before a British offensive was launched in Libya, he issued a ruling which was agreeable to both forces and still is in effect.

It provided that "upon the military commander-in-chief in the Middle East announcing that a battle is in prospect the air officer commanding in chief will give him all possible aid irrespective of other targets, however attractive."

Housing and Psychology

BRITAIN DISCOVERED IN THE FIRST Great War, and has rediscovered it in this much more vital global conflict, that the psychological front is as important as the front on which physical battles are fought. And among the best defensive and offensive weapons a nation can possess is the mentality of workers on the supply lines which proves invulnerable to the viscissi-tudes of the war's progress. Carefullyphrased exhortations to greater efforts, pictorial warnings of the country's danger, appeals to the finer patriotic virtues—all these must fall short of their objective unless there shall be a practical demonstration by those in authority who have it within their power to deal with some of the root causes of morale deterioration.

Take the case of Victoria's pressing housing problem as it relates specifically to the shipyard workers in this community. The serious shortage of dwellings for the men who are engaged in an industry on which the winning or losing of the war depends more than many people seem to realize is not a theory, a sociological abstraction; it is a condition for which an adequate and speedy remedy must be found. These men are ordinary men, average workers selected at random to meet an emergency—normal human beings not mysteriously clothed in a special psychological armor. They react to good and bad war news just as the baker, the butcher and the candlestickmaker reacts to victories and reverses. And the latter may predominate for some time to come.

Will it be denied, then, that it is not only good business to see to it that the hours they spend away from their most vital type of war work shall be provided with the more or less normal amenities of life—such as decent housing near their employment—but also a practical manifestation by this community that nothing shall be left to chance? To fall short in the provision of anything that will strengthen this psychological front is to invite disaster. The case of housing for these men should be resolved only with an appropriate regard for the realities of a serious situation.

Our P.G.E.

PREMIER HART'S LONG AND INTImate association with British Columbia's own particular railway problem suggests that he and his fellow directors of the Pacific Great Eastern can be confidently relied upon to safeguard the interests of the taxpayers. All governments, particularly in wartime, are the recipients of various kinds of advice—prejudiced and otherwise—and understand the importance of scrutinizing such of it as appears to have merit. In the case of this province, as with other provinces and the Dominion itself, the head of the cabinet and his colleagues naturally have information which necessarily must remain in their keeping until it is fitting to make it public. The present and future of the provincially-owned railway system conceivably come within this category.

The interest which Japan's action last December immediately caused the United States to manifest in the subject of communication with Alaska through British Columbia has opened up vast possibilities in the field of transportation. It is doubtful if war had not come to the Pacific whether the Alaska Highway—under the present or any future arrangement—would have been built for many a day. On the other hand, it is certain that if, in addition to the project now under way across the northern central section of the province, new railway construction is to be undertaken to facilitate communication from United States territory proper to Alaska, the case of the Pacific Great Eastern will be taken into consideration. Perhaps some arrangement between British Columbia, Ottawa and Washington might be feasible; but, in any event, we may be sure Mr. Hart's sound business judgment —which now has full play—can be relied upon.

Performance After Promise

WHEN THE FAMOUS MALVERN CONference of the Anglican Church came out for a "better deal" all round, many traditionalists rubbed their eyes in wonderment.
But the resolutions adopted at that gathering obviously went far beyond the pious hopes of another day. We see their spirit and intent in the first speech the new Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. William Temple, delivered the other day in the House of Lords. Here is a brief extract from this practical Christian's warning note:

"The working-class mother with a large family is the real heroine... of our civilization. She never stops working from morning till night. She has no remuneration for her work and it is her meals that are cut down first. It is the business of Lambeth (his official residence) to remind Westminster (meaning Parliament and the government) of its responsibility to God."

Dr. Temple's "maiden" speech was part of the debate in the Upper Chamber on the question of granting allowances to big working-class families with small incomes. But he spoke from personal experience; on the night of the announcement of his elevation to the primacy he was taking the service at a church in the poorer quarter of much-bombed Hull. Largely on account of his plea, moreover, the Lords agreed to the principle that an addition of some $500,000-000 a year should be earmarked for such family allowances. And the government, whose responsibility it is, promised action.

Judged by the size of the shot he fired it would appear that Dr. Temple will use all the political forces he can command. As well as his heavy spiritual artillery to translate into practice the almost revolutionary recommendations for the Church's new order—as approved by the Malvern Conference.

Interesting Figures

SOME ITEMS OF BRITISH PRODUction, coupled with imports and exports of essential munitions and war material in general, are worth consideration—apart from the fact that output since September of last year has increased 40 per cent.

For example, during 1941, 300 ships were continuously traversing the 12,000-mile distance between Britain and the Middle East by way of the Cape of Good Hope. Conveyed over this route were more than 1,000,000 tons of various commodities and no fewer than 30,000 vehicles—an outstanding feat when it is realized that one merchantman is able to make only three such trips a year.
Hundreds of locomotives, nearly 25,000 army vehicles, between 1,200 and 1,500 aircraft, and more than 400,000 tons of military and aircraft stores were carried overseas in British bottoms. Amplifying figures quoted some time ago by Lord Halifax is the recent statement that during last year Britain imported 2,134 aircraft from abroad; on the other hand, she sent to the various battlefronts nearly 10,000 planes; and in the case of tanks, her imports were as few as 200, but she exported 3,000. At this rate, moreover, the output this year will continue largely to exceed the inflow.

Aid to Russia and the strengthening of the armies of the Middle East command, of course, are reflected in the foregoing figures.
Of particular interest, nevertheless, is the fact that, despite the export of 10,000 planes, the R.A.F. is in a position to stage 1,000-plane attacks on the German war machine at its source.

Workers' Dwellings

OTHER COMMUNITIES BESIDE VICtoria have their wartime housing problems. Detroit faced a serious dilemma until recently. Our neighbor's War Production Board has just switched on the green light to permit the construction of nearly 6,000 defence workers' homes as part of a program to avert the growing shortage of dwellings in that vast arms-manufacturing area.

Work had already stopped on approximately 3,800 homes, and another 2,100 were threatened with stoppage by the end of last month, when the board ruled that A-I-K orders for copper wiring for homes could be moved up to the A-I-J level in the case of the Detroit electrical contractors involved on the jobs. Approximately 30,000 residential construction workers are estimated to have been forced into idleness by the copper wire tie-up of recent weeks. They will be going back to their jobs in the near future.

The War Production Board's decision came after two weeks of intensive negotiation in Washington in which the various industrial departmental heads, munitions board officials, and the regional priorities manager took part. They decided that although copper wire is admittedly a most crucial material, the housing projects now under way should be completed with all speed. What may be done about further planning for additional dwellings that are urgently necessary is a matter for further debate.

Notes

Many people walk to reduce and, these days, many others are being reduced to walking.

It constitutes a rather satisfactory vacation when one pays one's bills and lets the mind have a rest.

The word in Japanese for warship is "kan" and the detailed reports now being released of what happened at Midway indicate that our side has the openers.

Despite gathering signs to the contrary, Nazis still talk as if they were in all those countries permanently. These are the fellows who dwell from time to time on our laughable ignorance of history.

BUDGET FOR BACHELORS

From Financial Post

The need for cutting down civilian expenditures was a basic factor in the form of the new taxation.

An examination of rates raises the question whether that objective is being attained equitably.

Take the case of a single man with an income of $3,000. He pays $1,064 in taxes and has $1,936 left to spend. A married man with the same income whose living expenses are considerably heavier pays in taxes $884 and has left $2,116. The married man with two children, or three dependents in all, pays $668 in taxes and retains $2,332 out of his income. These figures include the refundable portion but that of course isn't available for spending now.

The married man, without children, has only $180 more to spend than the single person with no dependents. The married man with two children has only $400 more.

This surely puts the blessed in "single blessedness." Surely a wife should rate more than $180 difference; surely a wife and two children a difference greater than $400.

Bruce Hutchison

ESSENTIALS

IN CONSIDERING the Canadian government's new budget it might be wise to ponder the economic views of the little boy from next door who, after all, is more likely to be right about economics than the statesmen since he works in practicalities, not in theories. The government, he said, put a ceiling on prices in order to hold down the cost of necessities. I agreed that this was indeed the purpose of the price ceiling. In other words, he said, the idea is to hold down the cost of living. I confirmed this theory.

All right, he said, but no sooner is this done than the government puts on a new tax and raises the price of pop to seven cents right in the middle of summer. If this isn't an increase in the cost of living, he said, what is? And if the price of essentials is going up like this and even the price of gum, perhaps, and chocolate bars, what is the use of the government talking about holding down the cost of living? The whole thing, he said, is a joke.

CHOICE

After wading through the speeches of Hansard—a delightful relaxation in this warm weather and sure to induce a pleasant doze in the middle of the afternoon—you will be bound to come to one conclusion. I will not recite the figures here, but the conclusion is simply that in Canada we shall soon have to choose between increasing our fighting forces and our war production.

Up to now we have been able to increase both rapidly, by absorbing first idle men and second, by transferring men from civilian occupations into war jobs. We can still transfer some more, at the cost of reducing drastically the output of ordinary goods, and this will be done. But the end of this process is now in sight and if the war lasts a year or two—and it might last many years longer than that—the time certainly will come when any enlargement of the fighting forces will be at the expense of production in the factories and on the farms; and any enlargement of production will be at the expense of recruits for the fighting forces.

BOTTLES

It is now an offence to break a bottle, since all are needed during the war. Apparently, however, it is not an offence to throw bottles out of moving automobiles along the highways. Anyone who walks on our island roads these days is certain to return, if he is a patriot, with several undamaged beer bottles, and, if the day's bag is good, with a whisky bottle, which can be turned over to the salvage people.

There must be hundreds, perhaps thousands of people who dash about the country these days, drinking in their cars and heaving their bottles in all directions. This, since many of the bottles break, and rip tires, is helpful in the rubber shortage—helpful, that is, to our enemies. The bottles that do not break provide amusement and exercise for the patriots who patrol the roads and return at night with salvage.

And note the high-minded economy of the drinker—he never leaves any precious liquid in the bottle before ejecting it. The salvager hopefully examines every bottle but there is never a drop. If we lived in a fair and rational society the man who wastes bottles at least would provide some reward for the man who repairs the waste.

BIG JOB

The military experts and the geopolitical authorities will draw many conclusions from the Battle of Egypt, which is still unsettled at the time of writing this. The lesson for the ordinary man surely is quite obvious and requires no military knowledge or understanding of geopolitics. It is simply that the war is a much larger job than we had ever expected and is likely to take far more time.
I doubt that the democratic peoples have ever conditioned their minds to the fact that the war may go on for years and years. Mr.
Elliott Janeway, able correspondent of Fortune, writes that official Washington has half-expected the war to be won this year, but has never dared to believe it entirely; nor has it dared yet to tell the people of the United States that they may have to fight on indefinitely for mere survival like the peoples of Russia, China and Britain.

There has not been a real facing up to the facts even yet, as anyone can testify who has been in the United States recently.
The African battle should serve the useful purpose, whatever else it does, of proving even to the most stupid that it is indeed a war for survival, which can be lost, and that we have not begun to win it yet. We have only gained time to prepare for the job of winning it when the fighting power of the United States is delivered at the point of battle. This will not occur for a year yet anyway.

Picnics are where keys break when you start to open a can of food.

Many a politician who is bent on running for office is broke as a result.

When you're not at work the best way to stand summer heat is to sit it out.

Rubber heels added to the scrap rubber pile will help your Jack Canuck to shoo a

Treason Trials in S. Africa

From Toronto Star

Canada is a difficult country to govern. South Africa, much more so. In Canada there is a difference of opinion as to the method of raising troops for overseas service. In South Africa, which has also adhered to the voluntary system, there is a difference of viewpoint as to the war itself.
Premier Smuts has to contend with a considerable body of opinion which favors a South African republic, and with another considerable element which is actually pro-Nazi. Fifty men are due to appear before Johannesburg magistrates for their preliminary examination on charges of high treason. Nineteen are police.

The lines between the various opposition parties are more or less confused, but it is evident from this summary that they represent a considerable body of opinion looking towards a South African republic and not too enthusiastic about the war. The "New Order" group is contemptuous of parliamentary methods and would no doubt condone the activities of the Stormjaers. The government, which is itself composed of four groups (fortunately closely united) is strengthened by the disunity existing among the groups which oppose it.

UNEXPECTED DIVIDENDS

Rhodes scholar E. K. Lindley, who became a Washington columnist after leaving Oxford, recalls the following war diagnosis made for him last January by a high official well versed in military affairs: "This is the critical year of the war. It will determine whether we win during the next three or four years, or whether we must buckle down to a five to 10-year war of attrition.
This will be decided, in all probability, on the Russian and Middle Eastern fronts. It is quite likely that before the end of the summer it will look as if we are about to lose the war, or at least that it will become a five to 10-year war. Any god pews that we get between now and 1943, except that the Russians are still fighting, and that Egypt and the Middle East have not been lost, and that Hawaii is still in our hands, should be regarded as an unexpected dividend."

DEEPER THAN CONSCRIPTION

From Timmins Press

The real problem of Quebec is not conscription.

If the argument really were whether conscription or voluntary enlistment was the better method there would be no crisis.
If Quebec really believed in fighting this war, with everything it has, and fighting it with every power at its command—but nevertheless in doing so on a voluntary basis—the real friends of freedom throughout the world would all be saying "we take off our hats to them."

But there has been no real leadership of any kind in French Canada in enlisting whole-hearted support for the war. Occasionally noted people, like Cardinal Villeneuve, have made speeches about this world war against organized evil, but they have been in the nature of mere platitudes.
There has been no sustained effort to rouse the whole population to the realization of what is at stake in this war—and why it is imperative that French Canada should do its part.

On the other hand there has been ever since the war started —and long before—the most possible sort of negative mental preparation. Until the very eve of this war cabinet ministers told the people of Quebec that not a single man would ever be sent to fight outside Canada.

According to John MacCormac, most reliable writer about Canada, and New York Times representative, our government actually went to the length of privately cabling the Chamberlain government to cable back publicly to Canada saying that in the event that we did enter the war Canada's contribution would mostly be to supply food and munitions.

B. K. Sandwell, the most plausible apologist for the present government, excuses this on the ground that it was desirable to get a "unanimous" declaration of war.

"Unanimity" based on such downright hypocrisy could only end in the sort of disunity which we now have.

ROWDY BUT GOOD NEIGHBOR

You're a plain, rowdy, cheaply perfumed commoner, Miss Pefinicky cousins, the double-flowered and ruffled varieties, there is nothing subtle about your color reach all over the garden is a scandal which old Mother Nature has a hard time hiding.

Still, you have your points. You

Your bright, pert face of pink or

Coventry Women Auction Gift From Victoria Club

Coventry women can give as well as take it!

The Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club received tangible evidence of the splendid spirit of this much-blitzed English city in a letter which they have just received from the Coventry B. and P.W. Club, acknowledging a large parcel sent by the local club members. The parcel contained notions principally, including safety pins, adhesive, soap, writing paper, tea bags and other little luxuries which are now practically unobtainable in Britain, and was intended for the members' own use. But the letter shows what they did with the gift:

"Dear Victoria Club:—I am writing on behalf of the Coventry Club to thank you for the large parcel which you so very kindly sent us. It arrived on the day of our annual general meeting. We were all thrilled with the contents and decided then and there to hold an impromptu auction. We raised £4 4s for the Anglo-Soviet Committee's fund for an X-ray unit for Russia.

"I am enclosing a copy of our first News Sheet, so that you can see how we are endeavoring to repay the Canadian Federation for the help you have sent us and for giving us such a good start off. Some of our members attended a recent meeting with members from surrounding clubs to hear a speaker on the 'Federation and Democracy.' All our subjects for study and discussion will for the coming year be regarded from the point of view of their place in democracy.

"The Coventry club thank you very much for your kind thoughts and wishes you every success for the future.

"Yours sincerely, Diana Nelson, hon. secretary."

Former Cathedral Organist Weds Quebec Girl

The Church of the Advent, Westmount, Que., was the scene of a pretty wedding June 24 at 11 a.m. when Margaret Eleanor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence V. Frayn of Westmount, was married to Mr. Richard Stephen Eaton, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Eaton of Rudlin Street, Victoria, B.C. Rev. Sydneyham B. Lindsay officiated. Pink and white peonies and ferns composed the decorations. It was a choral service by the boys' choir under the direction of the organist, Mr. F. Gordon Phillips. Mr. Archibald Taylor was soloist. Miss Paddy West was the bride's only attendant. Dr. H. Scoggan acted as best man, and ushers were Mr. Basil Little and Mr. John MacFarlane.

The bride wore a gown of pale blue organdie, embroidered with tiny pink flowers, made with long tight-fitting bodice, and a very full floor-length skirt. She carried a Colonial bouquet of pink roses, forget-me-nots and gypsophila. Instead of a hat she wore a band of pink and blue matching flowers on her head under a veil of pale blue tulle. Mrs. Frayn, the bride's mother, wore hyacinth blue georgette with a corsage of pale yellow roses and a navy blue straw hat trimmed with flowers to match the gown.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents at 388 Oliver Avenue, where pink sweet peas and gypsophila were attractively arranged. The bride couple left later for a wedding trip to Lake of Bays, Muskoka. The bride wore for traveling a robin's egg blue angora cloth coat over a printed crepe dress to tone with coat and brown hat and accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Eaton will reside at 310 Lonsdale Road, Toronto.

The bridegroom is music master at the preparatory school of Upper Canada College, Toronto, and was well known in Victoria as assistant organist at Christ Church Cathedral before leaving for the east. He was awarded the degree of Mus. Bac. in absentia, by McGill University at its convocation exercises May 27. His wedding coincided with the 30th anniversary of his parents' wedding day.

Jack Gioima, Their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Vivian Gioima, who have been visiting them, will leave tomorrow on their return to Pittsburgh, Penn., where Mr. Gioima is on the staff of the Westinghouse Electric in the patents department.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Gower, Belmont Avenue, have returned from Vancouver where they went to attend the marriage of their son, Mr. Leonard Edwin Gower, and Miss Gertrude Ernestine Mae Cosgrove of Duncan, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Cosgrove of Napinka, Manitoba. Their younger son, Mr. John Gower, who was also present at the wedding and who has joined the R.C.A.F. left Vancouver last night on his way to Edmonton for training.

In honor of Miss June Dewar, who is to be married this month, Mrs. John Rodd, Jasmine Avenue, entertained recently at a miscellaneous shower. On her arrival the bride-to-be was presented with a corsage of sweet heart roses and sweet peas. She then opened the many lovely gifts which were contained in a prettily-decorated basket. Games were enjoyed and Miss Jean Scott played several piano selections. Mrs. W. Sommers assisted the hostess with the refreshments. Other guests included Mrs. R. A. Scott, Mrs. J. Watt, Mrs. W. C. Scott, Mrs. J. Waterston, Mrs. W. Sommers, Mrs. E. A. Robinson, Mrs. T. Brown, Mrs. M. Atkins, Mrs. D. GORDON-SCHOLEY

At the United Church, Cowichan Lake, Friday evening at 8, Rev. Currie Thompson united in marriage Joan Myra, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Scholey, Cowichan Lake, and James Harley Gordon Jr., R.C.N.V.R., Esquimalt, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Gordon, Nanaimo. Under the direction of Mrs. A. Howe, assisted by girl friends of the bride, the church was decorated with flowers, including an arch of honeysuckle.

A white chiffon dress of floor-length was worn by the bride. It featured a lace yoke and long sleeves, and her long tulle veil fell from a coronet of orange blossom. She carried a bouquet of red roses and swainsonia. She was given in marriage by her father and attended by Mrs. C. Clark, sister of the groom, who as matron of honor wore a primrose yellow sheer dress, with short orchid veil falling from a floral headress. She carried a bouquet of orchid sweet peas and yellow gladioli. Messrs. Ray C. Bowen, Sydney; Scholey Jr., and Jimmie Reed were ushers. Mr. W. Haley was at the organ and Miss Kay McDonnell sang the solo, "Because."

About 100 guests attended the reception held at the home of the bride's parents, the rooms being decorated with pink and white streamers and a white wedding bell, with pastel flowers. Mrs. F. Reed and Mrs. D. Madill had charge of the decorations. The bride's mother received in a dove grey crepe dress, with navy and white straw hat, assisted by Mrs. Gordon, wearing a navy blue and saxe redingote, with a blue felt hat, both wearing pink carnations. The bride's table was covered with a crocheted cloth made by her grandmother, centred with the three-tiered wedding cake set in pink tulle with silver vases of pink rosebuds and white carnations. Mr. Fred Reed proposed the toast to the bride.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. J. Gordon, Nanaimo; Mrs. Honeyman, Mrs. Ridgway, Mrs. Bowen and Miss Doris Davenport, all of Vancouver; Mrs. F. E. Scholey and Ronald, Mrs. H. Grossleg, Mrs. Ruth Empey, Mrs. O. Olsen and the Misses Kay McDonnell and Ruth Alexander, Victoria; Mr. and Mrs. R. Nicol, Mrs. A. Berber, Duncan; Mrs. S. Alexander, Chetumal.

After the honeymoon at Quallcum Beach, for which the bride left in an Elizabeth blue ensemble, with beige hat and accessories, the young couple will make their home in Victoria.

WRIGHT-SPOONER

At St. Stephen's Church, Saanichton, the marriage of Lois Ida, only daughter of Staff-Sgt. and Mrs. F. Spooner, Keating, and Donald Sidney Wright, R.C.A.F., son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Wright, 326 West 11th Avenue, Vancouver, was solemnized by Rev. W. M. Turner, Saturday afternoon at 3. Mrs. C. C. Wain played the wedding music. As the register was being signed the bride's cousin, Miss Marilyn Davis, Tacoma, sang "O Perfect Love." The bride was given away by her father, and wore a suit of daffodil-yellow wool crepe with touches of brown. Her matching hat was trimmed with yellow flowers and orchid veiling, and corsage bouquet of orchids. She also wore a jet necklace, a gift from the bridegroom. Miss Shirley Davis, another cousin, was bridesmaid, wearing a powder blue suit with matching flowers in her hair, navy blue accessories, and a corsage bouquet of sweet peas and gardenias. Lance Harrison, R.C.A.F., was groomsmen, and Messrs. Richard Spooner and Stanley Laurie were ushers.

The reception was held in the garden at the home of the bride's parents. Mrs. Spooner received in a blue redingote ensemble with navy accessories and a corsage bouquet of pink phlox and white carnations, and by the groom's sister, Miss Mamie Wright, in a two-piece navy blue suit with accessories en suite and a boutonniere of gardenias. Mr. H. L. Campbell proposed the toast as the bride cut the cake, which centred a table covered with a lace cloth, arranged with pink tulle, pink roses and white tapers.

For the honeymoon on the mainland the bride donned a black coat, silver fox furs and a black hat. The young couple will make their home in Victoria. The bride's aunt, Mrs. T. Davis, and Mr. Frank Manley, Tacoma, were guests at the wedding.

WICKETT-REDFERN

At a quiet ceremony at St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay, Monday morning at 11, Ven. A. E. de L. Nunn united in marriage Helena Gladys, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Redfern, McKenzie Avenue, and Lieut. Francis Dudley Wickett, R.C.N.V.R., eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. F. T. C. Wickett, Monterey Avenue, Oak Bay.

Given in marriage by Lieut. Col. F. J. B. Stephenson, the bride wore a lace-topped dress of aqua blue crepe with matching hip-length jacket and a wide-brimmed hat of creamy beige tone with matching accessories. Her corsage bouquet was of gardenias. Her only ornament was a string of pearls, the gift of the groom. She was unattended, and Mr. C. Stanley Wickett, brother of the

Hiring Girls Here For Washington Office Staff

In Victoria, the last stop of a seven-week Canada-wide tour, Miss Viola Parsons and her assistant, Miss Lillian Wankel, are now in the city Post Office interviewing and receiving applications of Canadian girls and women who have the necessary qualifications and desire employment in Washington, D.C. Miss Parsons is the employment manager of the women's division of the British Purchasing Commission in Washington, which provides all personnel of 54 departments.

Starting the tour at Toronto, Miss Parsons and her assistant have visited all the large cities across the Dominion. More than 2,000 applications have been received from Canadian women as a result of this tour alone.

TEST TONIGHT

They are interviewing women who are wanted in the British offices for stenographic and clerical duty. Each applicant accepted must pass a rigid mechanical test. This test will be held in Sprott-Shaw business school at 7 tonight.

It is expected that more than 100 applications will be received from this city. Already nearly 300 have been hired on the trip. They will journey to Washington within the next six months, where they will be employed for the duration of the war. Another 300 are on hand.

3,500 IN OFFICES

The offices in Washington have a total personnel of more than 3,500, of which more than 600 are Canadians.

Upon arrival the successful applicants will be assigned to private homes by a special office. Miss Parsons asks those wishing an interview to see her on the second floor of the Post Office before noon Wednesday, as she will leave for the east Wednesday afternoon. Most applications in this tour have come from Winnipeg and Vancouver.

Railway transportation is paid for by the Washington office for those accepted and going to work.

Colwood Golf Club To Hold Dances

In an endeavor to provide entertainment easily accessible to the officers of the three services, the Royal Colwood Golf Club on July 11 will inaugurate a series of weekly Saturday night dances in the spacious clubhouse.

In this popular rendezvous, dancers will be able to swing to the strains of Bunk McEwen's orchestra. For extra entertainment for Saturday night's dance the committee is importing Gladys Cooper, the popular entertainer from Vancouver, who shortly expects to leave for England to join a company engaged for the entertainment of the forces.

Invitations for the dance may be obtained from any member of the committee, including Messrs. Frank Norton, L. A. Diether, Al Reynolds, Mrs. Alex Straith and Miss Ruth Norton, or from A. S. Paul, the club secretary, or Straith's, Ballantyne's, Pollock's or the Pacific Club.

J. D. Lorimer Resigns

OTTAWA (CP)—Munitions Minister Howe has announced resignation of J. Douglas Lorimer of Montreal from his post as chemicals controller and added that acceptance of the resignation was held up until a successor could be chosen.

The announcement, issued through the Munitions and Supply Department, said Mr. Lorimer resigned "because of increasing responsibilities as managing director of the chemicals company he has headed for the past eight years."

Duncan Pianist In A.R.P. Recital

The high standard of musicianship displayed in the first recital was splendidly maintained in the second of the series arranged by Mme. Gertrude Huntly Green, and given by one of her star pupils, Mrs. Julene Thiessen Smith of Duncan, Monday evening at the Little Theatre. The series has been arranged in aid of the Women's Canadian Club A.R.P. fund. Although seemingly more "en rapport" with the music of the moderns, the young pianist gave a sensitive and artistic interpretation of each of the numbers on her well-chosen program, opening with "Blessed Jesu, Here We Stand," the beautiful Bach chorale adapted from an organ prelude by Rummel. This was followed by the Bach English Suite in A minor, its gay mood in marked contrast to the chorale.

The lovely Beethoven Sonata in E flat, opus 7, the sparkling "Papillons" (Schumann), the Chopin Waltz, op. 42, and the Wagner-Liszt "Song of the Evening Star," rounded out the classical group, while from the moderns she chose the Ravel Minuet from the Sonata and the typically Spanish "La Vie Breve," by de Falla, brilliantly played. The young artist made an instant appeal with her playing and was recalled many times to receive well-merited and enthusiastic applause.

Clubwomens' News

Saseenos W.A. of Holy Trinity Church, Sooke, are having a silver tea in the garden of Capt. and Mrs. N. E. Fairweather, Saseenos, Wednesday, July 8. In the evening bridge will be played in the house, starting at 8.

Daughters of the Nile will hold a garden party Thursday, July 16, at the home of Mrs. F. W. Francis, 1979 Lansdowne Road, from 3 p.m. Mrs. Walter Luney and Mrs. J. A. Birnie are joint conveners, and have arranged a stall of fancy work, also house-ware and other games. Ice cream and cake will be served instead of tea.

Marriages Increase

Births, marriages and deaths in May increased over the same month of 1941, according to the monthly report of the government's division of vital statistics. There were 1,383 births in May—699 boys and 684 girls, compared with 1,359 births in May a year ago. Deaths totaled 663—440 men and 223 women, compared with 632 in May of 1941. Marriages showed a big increase—from 701 in May of 1941 to 846 in the same month this year. Ninety-four persons died of cancer during the month and 38 of tuberculosis. Victoria, in May, had 165 births, 70 deaths and 70 marriages; Vancouver, 535 births, 276 deaths and 451 marriages; Nanaimo, 35 births, 14 deaths and 18 marriages.

RUBINOFF TO WED

NEW YORK (AP)—Violinist Dave Rubinoff arrived here yesterday from Columbia, S.C., where he had been on tour and announced his engagement to 22-year-old Matrice Ashby of Wichita Falls, Tex. "She is a red-haired beauty from Texas," he said. Rubinoff, who has been married twice, is 44.

Blind Guests Enjoy Sunshine Camp

Sunshine Camp, Saseenos, opened for the season on Friday, July 3, when a jolly party of sightless campers and guides arrived for their holidays. Although camp opened a week later than was originally planned, it gives promise of being a very successful and happy season for those who otherwise would have no holiday. Besides happy memories to take home, the campers will gain in health and be more ready to meet the demands of the winter ahead.

A few of the blind guests had enjoyed the experience of camp last year and were eager to help the newcomers become acquainted with camp ways. After they had found their cabins and taken a stroll to the beach they sat down to an appropriate Sooke supper of baked salmon and strawberries.

The next party of campers will be a group of mothers and children and will leave Victoria on July 14, followed by a second family camp July 28. The camp for elderly women will start August 11.

DUNCAN

Dr. and Mrs. H. N. Watson lent their home and grounds for a garden party Saturday afternoon, held under the auspices of the W.A. to the Canadian Legion.

Mrs. R. C. Malinguy, president, had general supervision. The cooked food stall was in charge of Mrs. M. C. Koechlin, Mrs. Bradley and Mrs. Freshwater; raspberries and cream, Mrs. Ernest Fox; fish pond, Mrs. Clements; bingo, Mrs. Purvey; Mrs. Paine, Mrs. Manzer; spinning Jenny, Mrs. Cummins; treasure hunt, Mrs. Gilman; obstacle golf, Miss P. Carr Hilton; tea arrangements, Mrs. H. Jackson, convener, assisted by Mrs. W. H. Purver, Mrs. R. C. Leighton, Mrs. Spall, Mrs. L. Lloyd and Mrs. Douglas; tea tables, Dorothy J. Castle; waitresses, Dorothy Fox, Anne Truesdale, Mary V. Watson and Eleanor Montgomery.

In general, reduction of weight through dehydration results in one pound of the dehydrated product equaling about 11 pounds of fresh vegetables.

P.O. W. H. ISMAY KILLED IN ACTION

Pilot Officer Wilfred Herbert Ismay, R.C.A.F., 24, native son of Victoria, reported missing after air operations overseas some weeks ago, is now reported killed in action, according to a Monday night R.C.A.F. casualty list from Ottawa.

P.O. Ismay was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Ismay, Ash Road. He attended Margaret Jenkins School when the family lived on Richmond Road and also Mt. Douglas High School in Saanich.

A few days after war broke out he joined the army at Victoria and served for a year with an anti-aircraft battery before transferring to the R.C.A.F. in October, 1940. He obtained his wings in August of last year and went overseas.

'Dicky' Leaves R.A.F. at Pat Bay

Announcement today that Warrant Officer William J. Dickson, R.A.F., is leaving Pat Bay to take a higher post on the prairies, brought expressions of regret from many in the community.

"I wish to thank the people of Victoria for the kindness shown to me during a stay of almost a year," said "Dicky" when reference was made to his local association. "I can honestly say that I have really had a very enjoyable time and appreciate it very much."

"I have made several very good friends, but unfortunately owing to such short notice, cannot say good-bye personally to all those kind people."

"I shall always remember the happy months which I spent on the island, and can only hope that the people at home, are showing the same kindness to the boys in the Canadian forces. Good-bye and good luck."

The Women's Auxiliary to the Canadian Dental Corps met at the Y.W.C.A. Monday, Mrs. J. C. Foote presiding and 26 members present. Since organizing last April the auxiliary has sent about 20,000 cigarettes to men overseas.

It's MUSTARD for FLAVOUR Every Time!

THERE'S a wealth of satisfaction in the little jar of mustard you make yourself for your table. For there's pleasure in flavour and there's flavour in Mustard—flavour that's perky, pungent and full of zest. Its lively touch adds sparkling new flavour to any kind of meat—hot or cold—and there's a warm and friendly invitation in its golden glow. Sandwiches too, are enlivened by the enticing nip of this piquant condiment that anyone can make in a jiffy with famous Colman's full-strength Mustard. Sold by grocers everywhere.

Mix gradually with COLD water to the consistency of very thick cream, stirring well and breaking up the lumps. Simple! Easy! Delicious!

Plans were made for a "beverage party" to be held July 22, at the home of Mrs. E. W. Hetherington, 3550 Beach Drive. The next meeting will be Aug. 3, at 2.30, at the Y.W.C.A.

Here's one coffee that gives you all 3

1. STORE-GROUND FRESHNESS!

No mistaking that deep zesty aroma! Airway coffee is fresh all right. Roasted fresh! Your grocer gets it in the bean direct from the roaster. No stopovers, no delays. Every pound you buy is at peak goodness. Yes, last-minute grinding is one BIG advantage...but Airway coffee offers you two more:

2. GUARANTEED QUALITY!

Nothing but choice mellow-mild coffees go into this blend. Types famous for smooth flavor and deep-down goodness. Countless thousands agree that Airway beats any coffee at any price. And we back them up! Try Airway in your own home, in your own coffee maker. You can't lose. Quality is guaranteed. Advantage Number Two.

3. WORTHWHILE SAVINGS!

Finally, notice the thrifty everyday price on this guaranteed-quality coffee. That's because of Airway's controlled distribution, sensible bag, and store grinding. Only with this fast, modern setup could Airway cost so little or be so fresh. Don't overlook this opportunity to save money. Remember: unless you find Airway entirely satisfactory, it costs you nothing!

$250 Or 3 Months

Quan Kee, a Chinese, was given the option of paying a $250 fine and $2.50 costs or serving a three-month sentence when he pleaded guilty in police court Monday to a charge of supplying an Indian, Andrew James, with liquor, Saturday evening.

Constable Edgar Falkner told the court that he accompanied James to the Victoria Cafe, where he had bought the liquor, grape wine, and saw Kee disappear through the kitchen. Constable Falkner said that he later arrested him in Fan Tan Alley.

A.R.P. Activities

The general meeting of the wardens for district 2-A-E will be held Tuesday evening at 8, at Margaret Jenkins School. A full attendance of wardens is requested. A number of important matters will be discussed. G. A. A. Hedden will give the third of his lectures on war gases.

July 1 and Army Week programs sold by Joe North netted $229.21, all of which has been turned over to the Queen Alexandra Solarium, Mrs. North announced today.

First Voyage

"I was just 12 years old when I shipped aboard my father's schooner, the Union, for a voyage to the Ragged Isles, off Labrador," Capt. Butler recalled. Later he went sealing on the famous old Neptune, which is still afloat.

When he was a young man he found himself a berth aboard the survey ship Alert and went to Hudson's Bay, helping in the survey of York Factory and Fort Churchill.

In 1887 he arrived in Victoria, then in the height of its sealing boom, when dozens of Newfoundlanders and Bluesnoses from the maritimes were arriving here. Butler signed aboard the Pioneer and went sealing to Japan. When the gold rush started in the Yukon in 1896, he went north and for three years served aboard old

Capt. Butler was born at Port-de-Grave, Newfoundland, July 6, 1862, son of Capt. John Butler and descended from a long line of hardy sailors, the first of whom landed on Newfoundland shores from Ireland in 1610.

First Voyage

"I was just 12 years old when I shipped aboard my father's schooner, the Union, for a voyage to the Ragged Isles, off Labrador," Capt. Butler recalled. Later he went sealing on the famous old Neptune, which is still afloat.

When he was a young man he found himself a berth aboard the survey ship Alert and went to Hudson's Bay, helping in the survey of York Factory and Fort Churchill.

Esquimalt to Hire Another Fireman

After being defeated at the previous meeting, a motion authorizing the employment of a man to work between the fire and works departments but to always be near the fire hall in case of fire, was passed at a meeting of the Esquimalt Council Monday night.

Moved by Councillor Fred Eaton, who asserted the employment of an extra man who could drive the fire truck was a necessity, the motion was upheld by a vote of four to two. Councillors J. P. Christensen and H. Dobson were the dissenters, stating that the chief of police and foreman of works were not in favor of such a move.

The addition to the municipal staff will be primarily for work in the fire department but will also work for the works department in the vicinity of the fire hall so as to be obtainable in case of fire.

The council is still undecided as to whether it will be represented at the annual convention of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities at Kamloops, Sept. 15 and 16. A letter from the secretary of the union, giving details of the annual meeting, was tabled. Reeve Alex. Lockley explained that the council had not been represented during the past three years as it felt the expense did not warrant a member of the municipal body to be present.

The council voted the annual $25 grant to the Salvation Army. Members unanimously authorized the exchange of $5,000 Dominion of Canada 3 per cent bonds due March 1, 1954, for Esquimalt 5 per cent bonds due July 31, 1963, at 103.29 and accrued interest yielding 4.75 per cent. Finance chairman Thomas Hadfield pointed out this exchange would increase the yield of securities by 1.75 per cent per annum.

It was voted to renew the sidewalk opposite the Kent Block and extend it to Sturdee Street.

Chosen Committee Head

WINNIPEG (CP)—Lew Hutchinson of Calgary, director of the Alberta wheat pool, will serve as chairman of the wheat advisory committee to the Canadian Wheat Board, succeeding D. G. McKenzie, Winnipeg, chairman of the board of grain commissioners. He was elected Monday.

VICTORIA'S horse racing fraternity had a little celebration Saturday night when the locally-owned Some Turley captured the closing day handicap at Hastings Park. Always popular with local punters, the little mare racing under the colors of Mrs. E. Stewart and trained by Don Carley showed a clean pair of heels to the leading handicappers at the meeting, including the great Sahara Chief, first-ranking thoroughbred in the Nanaimo stable of Mrs. Frank Beban.

Some Turley was built up as somewhat of a Cinderella horse while running for Mr. and Mrs. George Simon, with the result the mare has a big following. She failed to show her best form last season, but it looks like Carley has the mare in sound running condition this year, as the little gamester has displayed marked improvement every time out.

Speaking about racehorses, here is quite a story about that great eastern campaigner Doublebar. It seems that Doublebar is more of a Cinderella horse than Market Wise. There was no stall for Doublebar at Cicero, Ill., when an owner named Janekci purchased the sprinter of this year for $100, so the stake-a-week four-year-old was stabled in a coal shed. Doublebar was raced at Sportsman's Park by Janekci's two sons, eventually wound up at Tropical Park, where the son of Sherab was bought by Mrs. Tilyou Christopher of Miami for $6,000. With his fourth straight victory, Doublebar has earned $41,770.

Doublebar prevailed at Delaware, Narragansett, Belmont and Aqueduct. In his $3,370 victory in the Army and Navy Handicap at Aqueduct, Doublebar set a track record for six furlongs—1:02.2—two-fifths under the old mark held by Stimady, Archwolk, Early Delivery and Elkanok. He carried 125 pounds, conceding eight or more to Overdrawn, Parasang and Col. Teddy.

Pan Twilight Racing

By SCOTT YOUNG
TORONTO (CP)—Twilight racing got the glad-hand and often around Winnipeg this season, but complaints are beginning to filter in from other sectors. . . . Hall (Vancouver Sun) Straight concentrates his adverse comment on Saturday's twilight racing. (Objection: Card finishes too late for traditional week-end beakers of brew) but leaves the week-days to fend for themselves. . . . Ken (Edmonton Journal) McConnell lashes out in all directions. . . . He wrote flatly after the first twilight card in Edmonton that it was "definitely not a success."

South side track authorities at Edmonton ignore decades of racing progress. . . . There is no starting gate, not even chutes. . . . The horses are sent away in the old-time running start, which—as always—is fine if your nag happens to be pointed the right way when the field shifts into high. . . . Jim (Toronto Globe and Mail) Coleman suggests a war charities match between Pte. Al Lust and L.A.C. Dave Castilloux for the Canadian welterweight title. . . . The question arose when Pte. Lust hung a 10-minute snooze on Maxie Berger in Calgary. . . . Western fight men recognized the fight as being for the Canadian welterweight crown recently vacated by Castilloux, but the authoritative Canadian Boxing Federation, which has headquarters in the east, would have none of that—mainly because until Lust beat Berger he was strictly an anonymous gladiator. . . . The C.B.F. continues to recognize Castilloux as the titleholder despite his announced decision to retire. . . . A bout between Lust and Castilloux would be a natural, with plenty of box office pull.

FOOTBALL TALK
Football talk is growing again in the east and Baz (Montreal Star) O'Meara says Montreal could have Reg (Winnipeg Blue Bombers) Threlfall as coach for the asking. . . . Walt (Saskatoon Star-Phoenix) Riddell writes that Sandy Sandelack, former New York Rover, and Rangers' Grant Warwick have left for Cornwall to enlist in the R.C.O.C. . . . Wonder what attraction that outfit has for hockey players? . . . Must be mighty strong, because they've been flowing from east and west to join at Ottawa or Cornwall for months now. . . . Bill (Moncton Transcript) Hutchison reports that goalie Claude Bourque won't be playing professional hockey next winter. . . . Commenting on the $250 fine and brief suspension of Boston's Ted Williams for sulking, Bill (Ottawa Journal) MacNeil called the way Milt Schmidt took the same kind of boozing that among others. That is 10 pounds more than any of the former record-holders lugged. He is at Empire City for the $5,000 Fleet Wing Handicap at six furlongs, July 18.

Some idea of the scarcity of ball players is seen in the fact that the Cincinnati Reds of the National League will stage a try-out camp at Everett, Wash., starting Thursday. When a major league outfit has to come out west and hold a camp for aspirants, conditions must be getting bad. All candidates will receive free tuition but must furnish their own equipment. Mickey Shadler, veteran pro player and Cincinnati Red scout, will be in charge of the school.

The Reds secured Harry Craft, Frank McCormick, Whitey Moore, Junior Thompson, and others of their star performers through similar camps. The Cincinnati organization is hopeful of uncovering some more diamonds in the rough as a result of this method.

After enjoying the fine trout fishing offered at Cowichan Lake we have been talking into trying the sport offered at Saanich Arm. A real Brentwood enthusiast will act as our host and promises some action with what he calls "real fish." We have tried Brentwood before but never could get much kick out of dragging around half a hardware store with enough weight to drown a couple of people. But we are willing to try again and will tell you later about the result.

Watching Saturday's ball game between the Army and R.C.A.F. teams we were struck by the amount of improvement displayed by the services clubs since the start of the campaign. Take the Army nine for instance. In less than two weeks it climbed from the cellar to fourth position and shows signs of providing tough opposition for any of the other squads. By the time the playoffs roll around it should be a toss-up as to which team will emerge champions.

2 Victoria Boys In R.C.A.F. See Detroit

A.C.2 Norman Coates and Ralph Baker, local boys in the R.C.A.F. in St. Thomas, Ont., went to Detroit, Mich., on 48 hours' leave. . . . "They were given a royal welcome," said Mrs. H. E. Coates, 1046 Sutlej Street, mother of one of the boys. "The service clubs (U.S.G.) there supply meals free and find sleeping places for boys in uniform free. They rode on the street cars, free and went to see the baseball game, Detroit vs. Philadelphia Athletics. Detroit won 6 to 13 in 11 innings. They wouldn't let them pay to go to the game. Such treatment for our boys is wonderful and thanks to them and the best of luck."

Whirlaway Gets 130

BOSTON (AP)—The apparently jinxed Whirlaway's chances of breaking Seabiscuit's all-time record earnings of $437,730 in his next start soared Monday when Charles J. McLennan, the Suffolk Downs racing secretary, gave Warren Wright's four-year-old the comparatively comfortable top weight of 130 pounds for the eighth running of the $50,000-added Massachusetts handicap here July 15.

BASEBALLER ENLISTS

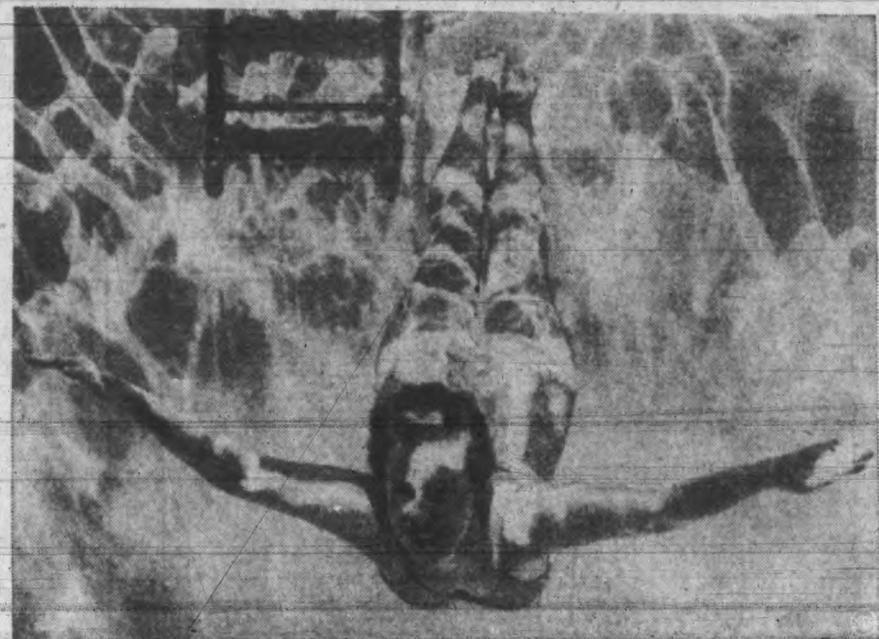

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Jim Castiglia, hard-hitting substitute catcher of Philadelphia Athletics, was sworn into the United States army today as a private. He boasted a batting average this season of .389.

SALICA VS. ORTIZ

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Contracts were signed Monday for Lou Salica of New York to defend his bantamweight championship in a 12-round match Aug. 7 with Manuel Ortiz, 24-year-old California State titleholder.

Tag day for the Esquimaux A.R.P. Ambulance Fund raised $300, it was announced by Annie McVie, convener, and president of the Esquimaux Community Club. Western Amateur Golf Opens Today

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP)—Amateur golf's last big fling of the year, and probably for the duration of the war, got under way here today in the 43rd playing of the western amateur championship.

Although a number of the links sharpshooters are in military service, the field of nearly 100 shaped up impressively, headed by Cpl. Marvin "Bud" Ward, national and western champion. . . . Cpl. Ward, stationed at nearby Fort Wright, returned from a California honeymoon in time for a last minute fairway tune-up. He's the man to beat for the title and the long, fairly flat par 72 Manito course is made to order for his game. A victory for Ward this time will bracket him with famed veteran Chick Evans as the only three-time holders of the western championship.

Pressing Ward in the title chase will be such topnotchers as Cpl. Pat Abbott of Los Angeles, Art Doering of Chicago, Bill Welch of San Antonio, Bruce McCormick of Los Angeles, Wilford Wehrle of Racine, Wis.; Ken Storey, Spokane, and Harry Glivan and Harold Gjoline, both of Seattle.

Aside from these there were such other good ones in the running as Verne Callison of Sacramento; Bob Goldwater of Phoenix, Ariz.; Sgt. Ray Kimmel, Olympia, Wash.; Dave Dixon, Vancouver, B.C.; Robert H. White, Boise, Idaho; R. B. Van de Mark, Tacoma, and Skeel Riegel, Glendale, Calif.

Oaklands Play Jokers Tonight

Oaklands, third-place occupants in Greater Victoria box lacrosse and only a game and a half out of second spot, hope to jockey into position for a crack at second place when they have played Jokers tonight. Game time is 8:30 at the Sports Centre.

The Oaks are three points behind the fast-climbing United Services and have been going great guns themselves recently. Bob McInnes, their manager, is confident of taking the game, especially with the acquisition of Mike Cunningham, who in his only game to date has stamped himself as fine a player as in the city today.

Jokers, who started in great fashion and later bogged down under the weight of injuries, have wholly recovered now and promise a good battle. It is expected Bill Andrews will be back in goal. If he is the Oaks are in for a hard night. Jokers are in fourth place and a win will hoist them alongside tonight's opponents.

In the preliminaries V.M.D. will play Fletcher's Men's Shop at 6 in a midget game while Aces and Oaklands, juvenile B. squads, play at 7.

LANDIS SAYS NO

NEW YORK (AP)—Efforts of Washington Senators to obtain permission to play all of their home baseball games at night, except those on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays, were turned down Monday by Commissioner K. M. Landis at a joint meeting of the American and National League owners.

Army Nine Wins Again Takes Third Place

Army baseballers continued their sensational climb in the local circuit Monday night as they knocked over Pitzer and Nex 3 to 1 and hurled the gasmen to take over third place. The Army hold third position by a half game margin over Pitzer and Nex.

Much credit for the victory went to Jerry Whitney, hard-working right hand hurler, who let Pitzer and Nex down with five hits and was robbed of a shutout when an error by his catcher gave the opponents their only run in the seventh inning. Whitney got into a couple of bad spots but was always able to pitch himself out. He struck out eight and didn't issue a walk.

Left-hander Ritchie Nicol worked the nine innings for Pitzer and Nex and heaved a fair ball game. He gave up seven hits, struck out 11 and walked two. Nicol gave away a run when a wild pitch allowed a man to romp home from third.

Army club will make its next appearance Friday night in a game against the league-leading Victoria Machinery Depot, and coach Tommy Green promises a couple of surprises. He is confident his boys will continue their great win streak.

TAKE EARLY LEAD

Army grabbed off a one-run lead in the second inning. Milliken was safe on an infield bloop that Harper played badly at third base. Warehelt walked and both runners were sacrificed along by Kibiski. Milliken scored on Bilek's fly out to centre field and Whitney fanned for the third out. Second inning saw the soldiers get another run. Dale beat out a weak roller down third baseline, and went all the way to third on Gerrard's single to right field on a smart hit and run play. Gerrard pilfered second. Milliken drew a life on Harper's error. Dale crossing the plate. Nicol retired the side with no further damage.

Make Plans for World Series

NEW YORK (AP)—Officials and club owners of the major leagues meeting in three lengthy sessions Monday, discussed the possibility of altering the plans for the 1942 world series, but left the final decision to the advisory council.

A long joint session, which followed separate league meetings and lasted almost till time for the all-star game, wound up with both leagues leaving the series entirely in the hands of the council, composed of commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis, president Will Harridge of the American League and President Ford Frick of the National League.

Leslie O'Connor, secretary to the commissioner, said after the final meeting that the only definite plan for the world series called for the contribution of a part of the receipts to war relief. All other details will be worked out by the advisory council, which did not set a date for a meeting. The council usually holds a regular session about a month before series time.

Considerable talk in baseball circles had involved the possibility of playing a world series longer than the usual seven games and taking the later games on a "tour" of several cities, and it was assumed that such an arrangement was among the matters discussed.

NORVANS CAPTURE ROUGH BOXLA TILT

VANCOUVER (CP)—Norvans defeated Wallace 19 to 6 in a close-checking intercity Box Lacrosse League game here Monday night, featured by two fights.

Marcus Smith, formerly of Trail, B.C., topped the Norvans scorers with five goals.

The North Vancouver team took an 8 to 2 lead in the first quarter, increased it to 11 to 4 at the half and outscored Wallace 4 to 1 in each of the last two periods.

Pete Pelletier of Norvans and Don Hughes of Wallace tangled in the third frame and each drew five-minute penalties. In the final quarter, Johnny Douglas of Norvans and Doug Smith staged the second fistic demonstration of the evening. Smith went to the box for 10 minutes while Doug Law drew a five-minute sentence.

LAWN BOWLING

Vancouver evening a masquerade benefit game under the auspices of the women will be held on Beacon Hill Park greens at 7:15. C-stumping is optional, but it is hoped that as many as can manage it will dress for the occasion. Games will be held in mixed rinks. A moderate entrance fee will be charged and any surplus will go to swell the British "Save the Babies" Fund.

Boudreau and York Share Star Roles

NEW YORK (AP)—Better all-star games possibly will be played than Monday night's spectacle at the Polo Grounds in which the American League once again slugged the National into a 3 to 1 defeat before a benefit crowd of 33,694, but it is difficult to imagine one more dramatic.

One minute after big Ernie Lombardi of the beaten National Leaguers lifted a lazy fly to right field to end the contest, darkness closed over the big arena as part of New York City's second wartime blackout. For 22 minutes, the crowd that for two hours had cheered itself hoarse sat tense and almost silent.

They sat as at a wake for the blasted hopes of the National Leaguers, who had entered the 10th annual struggle with such a burning determination to win and had seen their chances vanish almost with the first pitch.

Where the Nationals had planned to invade Cleveland today for a climactic appearance against the service all-stars in Municipal Stadium tonight, they found themselves instead returning chastened to their respective clubs while the triumphant Americans headed for the west and additional glory.

Monday night's game was over to all intents and purposes when Lou Boudreau, Cleveland's handsome young manager, laced the second ball pitched by Mort Cooper of St. Louis Cardinals into the deep left field stand. The Nationals from that instant must have felt it was hopeless. The crowd did, anyway.

Here was Boudreau, who is not a distance clouter and had, in fact, hit only one previous home run this year, blasting for the circuit off Cooper, the National League's outstanding pitcher. Further, the Nationals must have recalled with a sudden chill that Ted Williams had closed last year's all-star battle at Detroit with a homer.

UNSETTLED COOPER

At any rate, Boudreau's blow must have unsettled Cooper, who had been manager Leo Durocher's game-time choice to start instead of Claude Passeau of Chicago Cubs, his original selection. For the next American League, Tommy Hendrich, dumped a double into right-center, and after the next two men went down big Rudy York of Detroit Tigers caught a pitch late and lifted it into the upper deck in right field.

From there on, with the Americans boasting a three-run lead and their pitchers—Spud Chandler of the Yankees and big Al Benton of Detroit—setting the Nationals down inning after inning, there was never much doubt that the junior leaguers had won their seventh victory in 10 all-star duels.

Mickey Owen, the Brooklyn catcher who failed to stop a third strike and was the goat of the 1941 world series, saved his side from a shutout with a pinch home run off Benton in the eighth. He had first tried to bunt. He was the only National Leaguer to get past second base, and precious few of them got even that far as Chandler and Benton issued only six hits.

The support the Americans gave their two pitchers was brilliant. York and Boudreau, not content with batting the Nationals into submission, each contributed a fielding gem. York robbed Johnny Mize of what looked like a certain hit in the second inning, and Boudreau cut short the first genuine National threat of the game in the seventh when he made a running, diving catch of a liner by Peeewe Reese with two on base.

Durocher's big mistake, as it turned out, was in starting Cooper instead of either Johnny Vander Meer, of Cincinnati Reds or Passeau. Both proved to be in dazzling form as they toiled in a cause already lost. Vandy, his southpaw curves fairly crackling, allowed only two singles in the three innings he worked, and one of those was an extremely scratchy one by Joe DiMaggio. For two frames Passeau yielded only one single, that also by DiMaggio. Bucky Walters of the Reds sat the winners down in order in the ninth, striking out Ken Keltner of Cleveland Indians.

Softball Tonight

Tonight's senior A men's softball game will see the Barons oppose the Navy at the Athletic Park, starting at 6:45. Secretary Ed Whyte announced today no definite plans had been made for a third game between the Navy and 30th Ack Acks.

Americans Give 'Vandy' Credit

NEW YORK (AP)—The triumphant American Leaguers sat in the dark and celebrated their all-star victory Monday night, and all hands agreed it was largely achieved through a couple of fast balls that couldn't get by Lou Boudreau and Rudy York.

The squad of winners stormed into the dressing room after the victory, but they hardly had time to clap pitchers Spud Chandler and Alton Benton on their backs and give batters Boudreau and York a couple of "nice goin' guys" before the city-wide blackout put their quarters in pitch darkness.

For Chandler, it was a "helluva thrill," because he was the winning pitcher the first crack out of the box for him as an all-star. "I mixed 'em up with curves, a slider, a change of pace and some fast balls," he said. "I got a kick out of the game, but the biggest belt came when Boudreau and York hit those homers in the first inning. That's the first time anyone ever did that for me."

GORDON SPEAKS

Joe Gordon, the American League's leading batter, who fanned three times during the proceedings, said a screwball, a curve with the count three and two and a fast ball kayoed him in that order. He and the entire American League cast agreed that the big thing in the National League set up was the "stuff" Johnny Vander Meer, Cincinnati Reds' smoke-baller, served up to them in the three frames he worked.

The National Leaguers, meantime, did not take the loss too seriously, although disappointed at having lost.

"I'd start Cooper again if I had to do it all over again," manager Leo Durocher insisted when asked why he hadn't elected to open with the Chicago Cubs' Claude Passeau, or Brooklyn's Whit Wyatt. "I asked Mort how he felt and he told me 'great.' So I put him in."

"After all, the Homer York hit and the one Mickey Owen hit for our only run would have been fly balls to the outfield in any park but this with its short right and left field walls. And the one Mize hit that was caught 'way out there, about 450 feet, would have been good for four bases anywhere else."

"Best guy on the American League Club . . . that's easy, it was Boudreau. Batting and fielding, he was aces."

Coast Leaguers In Final Drive

The second half of the Coast League baseball season gets under way tonight and it appears the fans are in for some exciting baseball.

Recovery before the home-town supporters is the incentive at Portland where the last-place Beavers, who have been in a bad slump, meet their northern neighbors, the Seattle Rainiers for the first time this season.

Seattle is in fifth place and a few wins by the Beavers would cheer Portland fans considerably. The San Diego Padres are expected to prove inhospitable hosts to the league-leading Sacramento Solons who lead the third-spot Padres by five and a half games.

If the Padres give the Solons trouble, the runner-up Los Angeles club could nose into first place by making up two and a half games at Oakland.

A team enjoying a hot win spree has reason enough to show pepper on the diamond and backers of the San Francisco Seals hope their favorites can extend a five-game streak at the expense of Hollywood.

The Seals left for southern California without Ira Scribner, a member of their hurling staff, who is seeking medical treatment for a sore arm.

TOM THORP DEAD

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—Tom Thorp, 60, nationally-known football official and horse racing steward, died Monday at the Cambridge Hospital.

Dorothy Dix: Are Marriages Happiest When Wife Is the Elder?

Dear Miss Dix: Lately a certain supposed authority on the subject has advanced the theory that the happiest marriages are those wherein the woman is three or four years older than the man. Judging from my own experience, also that of my friends, the most contented couples are those in which the wife looks up to the husband in personal qualities, ability, education and age. If this were reversed and the wife were the elder, do you not think she would be apt to consider her husband somewhat less able to cope with the world than she is and try to dominate him?

Professor Lewis Terman, the psychologist of Stanford University, deduces that the best years for a successful marriage are for women to be 20 or older, men 22 or older. And I understand that Harvard's leads on the question are the same.

Another view point: Wouldn't a woman of 25 or 26 be able to outwit a man of 22 in the courtship deal? Would such a marriage be really his choice? Of course, there are exceptions to all rules, but what do you think of the age factor in marriage?

C. E. D.

Answer: I think that after a man and woman are 30 or older that it does not matter greatly which one is the elder. Both are then mature. Their tastes are formed. They know what they want in their mates. They are not likely to change. They pick out their wives and husbands with their heads as well as their hearts. So if a man finds a woman who meets all his requirements it is perfectly safe for him to marry her, even if she is 10 or 15 years older than he is.

GIRLS MATURE EARLIER

But when a man is in his early 20's he takes a long shot at happiness if he marries a woman three or four years older than himself because he is still a boy, with a boy's changing ideals and tastes, while she is a mature, settled woman. Girls mature earlier than boys do and women age faster than men do, so that even at the same age the wife is older than the husband, and if the marriage starts off with her being the elder of the two the disparity between them is greatly marked in a few years.

The only marriages that turn out happily—when the wife is the elder—are those in which the husbands have a strong mother complex. Such men really don't want wives. They want mothers. They want women who will take care of them and pet them and cater to all their little whims, just as mother did. They don't mind being bossed because they like the feeling of security and lack of responsibility they get by being tied to their wives' apron strings.

I think the marriages giving a couple the best chance of happiness are those in which the husband is five to 10 years older than his wife. This gives the wife a chance to look up to him and respect his judgment and opinion and be guided by them, and that leaves them near enough in the same age class to enjoy doing the same things and have the same interests.

A POOR HOME BETTER THAN NONE

Dear Miss Dix: I am a young girl, a junior at high school, with twin brothers who are 14 and a younger brother and sister. We are forlorn, miserable children torn between two parents, and we don't know what to do. Dad is a drunkard, but very kind and considerate when sober. Mother is not true to dad and goes out with other men.

Mother forever nags and talks about dad's faults, but he never mentions hers until she goads him to the breaking point. They have been married nearly 17 years and separated frequently but make up. My twin brothers and I have often been on the verge of running away from home, but I do not see how it will help matters as I am the one who usually brings them to their senses, and the others would be worse off if I deserted them.

What shall we do? Shall my brothers and I run away to try to find happiness for ourselves, or shall we remain at home for the sake of the younger children?

DESPERATE

Answer: Try to stick it out, my dear, for the sake of your little brother and sister who would have no one to cling to, nothing to anchor them to decency and right living if you deserted them. You are the one who holds the home; such as it is, together, and even a poor home is better than no home and has its restraining influences. The children have a foothold, a place to come back to at night, a roof to shelter them, food to eat that they would not have if you left them to a drunken father and a philandering mother.

It is a terrible responsibility to be put on one so young as you are, but you would have no happiness in running away from it and thinking of your little brother and sister wandering the streets and perhaps falling into the companionship of the gutter. Brace up and bear your load. God strengthens us to carry on if we meet our problems with courage. But how can any father and mother face their own consciences when they see the wreck they have made of what should have been a happy home, and three forlorn little kids stumbling in the dark, trying to do the duties the parents have left undone? Surely in all the world there is no more pitiable sight than children trying to reform their fathers and mothers.

BREAK THE ENGAGEMENT

Dear Miss Dix: I am a young man, supposed to marry a girl I thought I loved. Arrangements for the wedding have been made, the invitations sent out. Well, a girl I used to go with came to see me the other day and I found out that I still loved her and that she loved me. The girl I am engaged to has a high social standing and loves me deeply. If I break the engagement, it will be quite a blow to her as well as to her family. But, on the other hand, the girl I love and I will be broken-hearted if I go through with this marriage with a girl I have ceased to care for. What should I do?

BOB.

Answer: Break the engagement. If you were on the very steps of the church, turn back if you realized that you had made a mistake in your feelings and that you no longer wanted to go on with the marriage.

It is the only decent and honest and honorable thing you can do. It is the only kind thing you can do to the girl, for no woman is ever placed in such a cruel position as the one who knows herself to be an unloved and unwanted wife and that her husband married her only because of a sense of duty, or because he lacked the courage to face public criticism. It takes a lot of love

Some South Sea Natives Wear High Headdress

When Winnebago Indians wanted to do writing of a sort, they used birchbark as their "paper." Their writing was done with pictures. To show they were making a picture of a white man, they drew the figure of a man and placed a hat on his head.

Those Indians, and others, had no hats or caps when they were first seen by white explorers. Many of them, however, put feathers in their hair or wore feather "bonnets."

Indians of the plains were the ones who most often wore feather bonnets. The bonnets were made largely of the feathers of golden eagles. Some had long tails which hung down almost to the ground.

It's enough to make even a Red Indian Chief blush at the thought of his own modest little bonnet!

Or, many warriors of the tribe did not wear such bonnets. It was the chiefs and the chief warriors who were allowed the honor. As a warrior grew older, and performed brave deeds of one kind or another, he could place new feathers in his bonnet. In one tribe a warrior was allowed to add five feathers when he brought back to camp an enemy who had been wounded on the battlefield.

American Indians are not the only people with a headpiece of feathers. Among various savage or half-savage tribes of far lands, feathers have been favored. Dark-skinned Melanesian natives of some South Sea islands follow the custom. In certain cases the men build up their feather headdress to a height of three or four feet.

I have said that most Indians of this continent had no hats or caps, but in a few tribes the men covered their heads. Some Algonquin warriors in the far northern part of Canada wore caps. Chilkat Indian men, along the coast of Alaska, wore so-called "basket hats." These were made of bark or woven material and covered the head in a way which gave protection. Basket hats and caps of much the same type were worn by some Indians of Oregon and California, both men and women. Among nations which usually are described as "civilized," feathers have gone into millions of

to make a marriage a success and to be able to overlook a woman's whims and peculiarities, and if a man does not possess this for his wife he cannot be a good husband.

Scheelite Found In Northern Mine

Presence of scheelite, the ore from which war-precious tungsten is made, is reported in Alice Arm area by Col. J. C. Harris and Horace Tyler of Port Alberni, who have just returned from a visit to the north in the search of war metals.

"It has been known for some years that scheelite has made its appearance in the ore from Esperanza Mine, as samples have been assayed, one giving 39 per cent, another picked from the dump 20 per cent tungstic acid," Col. Harris said.

The ore is very difficult to detect, except with the use of a "mineral light" lamp, when the scheelite fluoresces, Col. Harris said.

"We picked up some very fine specimens from waste rock in the mine and we will gladly show these, under the 'mineral light' to anyone interested," Col. Harris said. "From previous information it was indicated scheelite was white and very hard, but the 'mineral light' has disclosed that, besides being white, there is also a buff color. Scheelite being a war metal, every endeavor will be made to get this ore sacked and shipped."

So far no scheelite has been located on Vancouver Island, but Col. Harris said today: "I shouldn't be surprised if there are white quartz areas on the island."

He intimated that individual prospectors will probably start a search on the island before the summer is out.

Metchoshin School

The annual school meeting will be held in Metchoshin schoolroom at 7.30 on Saturday.

New business to come before the ratemakers will include the opening of a classroom for a junior division, with the appointment of a second teacher, and assessment to provide high school fees for the ensuing year in advance, to meet new requirements by the Victoria School Board, in addition to the amount owing for the past year's tuition.

At the request of Dr. G. F. Amyot, the Provincial Health Department will present an important matter in connection with the public health nursing service for the school and area represented by the Metchoshin school district.

There will be an election to appoint one trustee for a term of three years and an auditor for one year.

Four motorists were fined $2.50 each in police court today on parking convictions.

During July and August the Victoria Public Library will close at 1 each Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. W. S. Muir, 1033 Pakington Street, reported to police Monday night that three windows had been broken in what was an apparent attempted entry of her house.

Mrs. O. A. Brake will address the Victoria British-Israel Association at 8 tonight in the Lower Hall of the First Baptist Church, when she will discuss the situation in Russia and Egypt in relation to the prophetic message of the Bible.

C. H. "Punch" Dickens, famous bush flier in past years, now vice-president and general manager of Canadian Pacific Airlines is here with his family for a day's visit. With Don Wallace, special representative of the C.P.R., he will leave tonight for a general inspection of the company's stations in this province and the Yukon.

Wire Rockets

Tangle Nazi Planes

LONDON (CP)—Wire-trailing rockets were disclosed officially today as one of Britain's newest weapons of defence against aerial raiders.

The weapon, which has been in use to protect merchant ships for more than a year, was described as an apparatus which shoots a projectile that opens into a parachute from which long wires dangle.

The rockets, fired up as planes sweep to attack, often force them to veer off course or risk entanglement in the wires.

Meat Price Fine Of $1,000 Imposed

MONTREAL (CP)—Charged with selling beef at prices higher than the Wartime Prices and Trade Board ceiling, the Swift Canadian Company today was sentenced to a fine of $1,000 and costs.

Trade board officials said it was the first sentence to be imposed on a meat packer.

Defence counsel entered a plea of guilty before Judge J. C. Langlois to a charge of having, between April 22 and May 2 "unlawfully sold beef products at prices higher than were charged for items of substantially similar kind and quality during the basic period, Sept. 15 to Oct. 11, 1941."

A method of preserving old records involves cleansing in lime-water; drying in a calcium carbonate solution; placing between sheets of cellulose acetate foil; further covering with tissue and tracing cloth; and fusing under pressure to a dust-free, legible sheet.

Yarrows Mails $500 Fire Cheque

Yarrows Ltd. Monday mailed to Alderman Archie Wills, chairman of the city fire wardens, a cheque for $500 for attendance of city equipment at the shipyard fire in Esquimalt, Dec. 24.

An accompanying letter said that while the firm admitted no legal liability "we feel that there may exist a moral obligation."

The matter would be discussed by the fire wardens, Alderman Wills said. He expressed appreciation for the action of Norman Yarrows in taking up the question of remuneration after the fire underwriters of British Columbia and the municipality of Esquimalt had refused to do anything.

Women Now Check Electric Meters

This week women meter readers made their initial bow to the public of Victoria, several young women having been taken on to the staff of the B.C. Electric Railway Company meter-reading department to replace men now serving with the armed forces.

At the present time these young women are undergoing a preliminary course of training and will, for a time, make their meter-reading rounds under the supervision of an experienced meter reader.

While this may seem something of an innovation in Victoria, women meter readers are already employed in Vancouver and in other cities on this continent. They have been employed in Great Britain for some years and in all instances have proved most satisfactory.

The B.C.E.R. in announcing the addition of women to its meter-reading staff, has every confidence that the young women so employed will fully measure up to the requirements and responsibilities of the work, and would be glad to have the co-operation and understanding of its many light, power and gas customers throughout Victoria and the surrounding districts.

For the time being these young women will wear ordinary civilian attire, but it is the intention of the company to provide official uniforms in the near future. It is also pointed out, for the information of the public, that all women meter readers, whether in uniform or not, will carry proper identification as to their occupation.

More Raising Bees, Season Unfavorable

Sugar rationing in Canada, and especially in this province, has led many people to raise bees for honey, according to a letter to the Times from A. W. Finlay, a provincial apiarist, New Westminster.

Mr. Finlay says there are now in British Columbia more than 4,700 registered beekeepers and nearly 300 new permits have been issued since the start of the year.

The wet spring and early summer have been unfavorable, he says.

"I have never known a season to be so unfavorable for the raising of bees," he adds. Many colonies are dead and others are dying of starvation in spite of the fact that special permits for sugar have been granted beekeepers for the purpose of feeding their bees. Mr. Finlay says beekeepers are natural optimists, and that they still hang on to the hope that weather conditions will be better for the bees in the late summer, allowing a generous harvest of honey.

The number of commercial beekeepers, those keeping more than 200 hives, are very few in B.C.

According to Mr. Finlay, the irrigated interior areas, with longer hours of sunshine are the best for heavy honey production, the average production per colony being double that of coastal areas. The Cowichan Lake district on Vancouver Island is considered one of the most favored spots for beekeepers on the coast, and often more than 100 pounds of honey are produced by one colony in a season if the weather is good.

'Easy Terms' Too Easy, Jewelers Fined $70

First conviction in British Columbia under the consumer credit regulations of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, was recorded in Vancouver police court when Magistrate McQueen fined Shores Ltd., jewelers, a total of $70 on three charges.

The firm was charged with selling goods at smaller down payments than one-third. It was fined $50 in one case and $10 each in the other two charges.

'The Unknown Country' Window Prizes
The contest conducted for Canadian book stores by Longmans Green, Canadian representatives for Coward-McCann, for the best window display devoted to Bruce Hutchison's "The Unknown Country," has concluded and the prizes awarded.

The first prize, $25, was awarded to Tyrell's Book Shop, Toronto, for a window arranged by Miss Atwood of the Tyrell staff. Second prize, $15, went to Jewell Brothers of Hamilton, and the third, $10, went to Jas. Hope & Son of Ottawa. Marionette Library of Victoria won honorable mention.

The judges for the contest were Lieut. Mack Seccombe, formerly editor-in-chief of Quill and Quire; W. C. Bell, and Gail Ferris, promotion manager of Longmans Green.

COLWOOD

Members of the Colwood Men's Club attended Sunday morning service conducted by Rev. P. J. Disney at St. John's Church. Following the service the members, accompanied by their families and friends, gathered at Millburn's picnic grounds, Ocean Beach, where an enjoyable afternoon and evening was spent swimming, boating and ball games.

Stars Due Here Early Next Week

Stars of "The Commandos" to be filmed here during the eight weeks starting July 16 or 17 will start to reach Victoria early next week, according to Harve Foster, unit production manager, who joined Gordon Wiles, production designer, here Monday with the advance guard of the technical crew for the picture.

Paul Muni, star, will arrive with Lt.-Cmdr. John Farrow, director, and William Mellor, cameraman, probably Sunday. Mr. Foster said. Technicians will come in regularly during the next few days, he added.

Mr. Foster went to work today looking for local talent for important "bits." He interviewed Victorians interested in amateur theatricals and opened his search for extras.

Mr. Wiles was busy seeking office space for the technical crew as well as Victoria assistants for the drafting group.

FOUND "NORWAY" HERE

Both expressed complete satisfaction with the site for outdoor work on Saanich Arm and noted with some amusement an incident which occurred Monday.

They had interviewed Percy Stacey, near whose quarters they plan to erect a Norwegian village. On the mantel of his home they saw a picture.

"Do you know that fellow?" asked Mr. Foster.

"He's my brother," Mr. Stacey replied. The picture was one of Eric Stacey, Warner Bros' unit manager who had worked with Mr. Foster on "Gone With the Wind."

The Saanich Arm location was the closest possible section of "Norway" Hollywood could find, the experts agreed.

In addition to other details, they continued arrangements to receive approximately $54,000 worth of sets and an expensive wardrobe on which local fitters will work.

B.C. Municipalities To Get Speed Fines

Municipalities in which motorists exceed the Dominion government's 40-mile-an-hour speed limit will reap the fines imposed, Attorney-General R. L. Maitland, K.C., said today.

Under the Ottawa law the Provincial Treasury has the right to appropriate the fines.

Mr. Maitland, however, recommended the fines go into the municipal treasuries and this was accepted by the B.C. cabinet at today's meeting.

"I feel this is in keeping with the way our other fines are handled and the Provincial government doesn't in any way wish to take advantage of the new fines," the Attorney-General said.

Offer 350 Boats For Evacuation

Three hundred and fifty motor boats, owned by members of the Power Boat Squadron, will be available to assist in evacuating women and children from Victoria should the need arise, it was reported Monday night at a meeting of the United Organizations' Security Council.

The meeting was told the authorities were considering the offer of the Power Boat Squadron and necessary arrangements will be completed shortly.

A number of bundles of clothing which have been gathered by the Women's Canadian Club, have been cleaned and sorted so they may be used for emergency purposes. The Victoria Women's Institute has completed preparations for the caching of food for use in time of emergency.

Barrels for storing water should mains be broken by bombs are now available at reasonable prices. The barrels are five, 10 and 45 gallons capacity. Further information can be obtained by telephoning Mr. Williams at E 2101, or W. J. Simpson at E 2476.

Committee in charge with fuel distribution reported only one-third of last year's output will be available this year. Dealers suggest coal be used instead of wood products as there is no shortage of coal, the committee reported.

Fire at V.M.D.

A fire of undetermined origin that broke out at 7.29 Monday evening burned the roof of the pattern shop at the Bay Street plant of the V.M.D.

The city fire department attended and had the blaze extinguished by 8.45. The fire burned away the wooden beams supporting the roof but did not damage the machinery.

GAS RATIONING HITTING CLUB

Gasoline rationing has cut into the service club field, according to an announcement in the weekly bulletin of the Victoria Rotary Club.

The bulletin says in part "Registration of Clarence Oldfield has been accepted by the board with regret. He resigns due to gas rationing."

Mr. Oldfield, a resident of Saanich, finds fuel difficulty a major deterrent in coming from his municipality into the city for the weekly luncheons.

T. P. McConnell, club secretary, reported several other Saanich residents had intended to become Rotarians at the beginning of the club year on July 1. They have withdrawn their applications for the same reason, he said.

No Sneak Attack Possible Here

"It will be impossible for any enemy bomber to come in without being seen and we are ready for them," Major Alan Ransome told Summer School students today in a lecture-demonstration he put over with a bang with the explosion of miniature bombs.

Using the title "It Can't Happen Here," Major Ransome asked what an air raid was like and proceeded to demonstrate. He described various types of explosives and followed up the description by setting off miniatures. As they exploded the majority of students moved to the back of the hall. One fragment caught him in the heel and he, too, moved from the firing line.

He outlined a theoretical disposition of anti-aircraft guns, searchlights and telephone communications needed to meet and beat an enemy attack and explained the manner in which communications were maintained with the R.C.A.F. planes.

The enemy, presumably Japanese, had the option of two forms of attack: One through slow invasion from the north, the other from aircraft carriers off the coast, he said. He described the type of bombers which would be used and the types of bombs they would drop, including incendiary, high explosives, delayed detonator bombs and gas bombs and identified them by sight, sound and smell.

Methods to be employed in fighting air raids and bombs were outlined by Major Ransome, who warned his hearers never to use water on magnesium types, which should be placed in sand buckets, covered with sand and taken outside, but to douse phosphorus bombs liberally.

School Group Studies Rehabilitation Plans

School needs which might be filled through a rehabilitation program were broached generally at a special meeting of the City School Board's rehabilitation committee meeting Monday evening.

The committee, composed of Trustees F. G. Mulliner, board chairman; Mrs. A. S. Christie and J. S. McMillan, asked H. L. Campbell, municipal inspector; T. L. Christie, board secretary; Donald Cameron, building and grounds superintendent, and D. K. Kennedy, city building inspector, to bring in a report on concrete proposals which might be undertaken.

Such a report would cover possible future needs and would pay particular attention to such items as a new Central Junior High School and possibly new buildings to replace North Ward, South Park and other out-moded buildings.

A.R.P. Will Stage Final Test of Series

The final A.R.P. practice of a series of district tests will be conducted Wednesday night, beginning at 7 in districts 3E, 4A and 2A west. The test will be one of the largest attempted in Victoria.

District 4A is the Victoria West district; 2A west, the Fairfield area, "bounded by Pandora on the north, St. Charles on the east, the waterfront on the south and Cook Street on the west; 3E is bounded by the City-Saanich boundary on the north, Douglas on the east, Hillside on the south and the Gorge (Selkirk water) on the west.

Although the schedule of events is yet to be approved, there will be a total of about 30 "incidents," and about the same number of "casualties."

Ambulance and nursing services will be called out to attend to "casualties," while auxiliary firemen and engineering units will deal with high explosives and incendiaries. Decontamination and rescue squads will also be in attendance.

A.R.P. Co-operates With Forest Service

"The fire at Anyox and other recent grave developments in the coast areas have added emphasis that cannot be ignored to the A.R.P.'s appeal for recruits," Hon. A. Wells Gray, Minister of Lands, said today.

"In most of the outlying communities," the minister continued, "the towns and villages are built in the midst of the forests, making forest fires as great a hazard to the settlements as to the woods. A forest fire burning out of control might wipe out towns unimportant enough to be in its path, while fires starting among the houses could quickly spread to the adjacent forests. To cope with possible fire situations, both normal and those resulting from enemy action, the B.C. Forest Service and the A.R.P. aware that their aims are identical, have arranged a program of complete co-operation.

"The A.R.P. will, of course, continue to be responsible for incendiary town fires, while the forest service will concern itself primarily with forest fires, but at the same time each will come to the other's assistance whenever possible.

"As minister of lands, I join the officials of the A.R.P. in an appeal to every available citizen to join the organization in their community. The safety of cities, towns and forests might well depend on the assistance of a well-organized, alert civilian populace."

Shrine Circus Postponed Month

Gizeh Shrine Band has been compelled to postpone its seventh annual Shrine Circus scheduled to show from tomorrow until Saturday, due to the fact that immigration officials refused to permit several of the feature acts to enter into the United States on account of new wartime rulings.

The circus will be presented Wednesday, Aug. 5, to Saturday, Aug. 8, at the Ice Arena instead of on the originally scheduled dates. All persons holding tickets are assured their tickets will be honored on the dates in August.

Life Insurance Makes Big Gain

Increased purchase of life insurance in Canada and the United States is reflected in the sales figures just released by the Great-West Life Assurance Co. This was the highest on record, showing an increase of 27 per cent over June of last year. Total sales for the first six months showed an increase of 15 per cent over the same period last year, and represents the largest six-month volume of business since 1930. This total of business is particularly significant considering that in this period company representatives devoted three weeks of full time work to the sale of victory bonds in the Second Canadian War Loan.

No Tourist Reports

Due to a change in the system of record keeping, monthly statistical reports of the number of tourists entering Canada at the Port of Victoria are no longer available. G. A. Yardley, collector of customs and excise, announced today.

Only record of tourist travel for this area now is kept in Ottawa, where reports will be issued. Mr. Yardley offered no explanation for the change.

Bus Company Fined

For contravening the Motor Carrier Act in running buses into Esquimalt without securing permission from the municipality, the Veterans' Sightseeing and Transportation Company was fined $10 and $30 on separate charges in Esquimalt Police Court Monday.

The bus company pleaded guilty to charges of operating buses into Esquimalt without permission on May 25 and 29 after street car service had ceased for the night. Two charges of carrying passengers without license to do so in Esquimalt were dropped by the municipality.

Three motorists were fined $15 each for speeding and of these two were fined another $5 for having no driver's licenses. One motorist was fined $10 for passing a standing street car and two others were fined $2.50 each on parking convictions.

Jap Land Sales In B.C. Controlled

OTTAWA (CP)—Gordon Murchison, director of soldier settlement, is given power to control the disposition by "sale, lease or otherwise" of agricultural land owned by Japanese in the protected area at the British Columbia coast, under an order-in-council published in an extra edition of the Canada Gazette.

The action was taken, said the order, "for the security of peace, order and welfare of Canada."

The order provides that "except with the approval of the director and in accordance with any terms or conditions therein set out, no person shall, after the date hereof:

"1. Purchase, lease, or otherwise acquire or agree to purchase, lease or otherwise acquire, or

"2. Either for himself or on behalf of the owner, sell, lease or otherwise dispose of or agree to sell, lease or otherwise dispose of,

"Any agricultural land in a protected area of British Columbia owned by any person of the Japanese race or by any Japanese company."

Mr. Murchison is to have made an appraisal "of the fair present-day value" of all agricultural lands in any protected area of British Columbia owned by persons of the Japanese race or Japanese company. He is empowered to appoint inspectors with authority to inspect any land "reasonably believed" to be Japanese-owned and to gather information about such land.

A fine not exceeding $1,000, or imprisonment not over six months, or both, may be imposed on persons who do not abide by the regulations. Burden of proof of innocence is on the accused.

Would Abolish Army Regiments

BY FRANK FLAHERTY
AN EASTERN CANADA ARMY CAMP (CP)—Maj. Gen. F. F. Worthington, commander of the 4th Armored Division, expresses the opinion that the Canadian army should be one and indivisible.

A crusader for divisional esprit de corps among the troops under his command, this pioneer Canadian expert in tank warfare would like to see the present system of dividing the army organization up into corps and regiments abolished.

In an exclusive interview with the Canadian Press at his Eastern Canada training camp, Gen. Worthington said that when a man enlists he could join the "Royal Canadian Army" just as an airman enlists in the "Royal Canadian Air Force" and a sailor in the "Royal Canadian Navy."

"If you do that you will wipe out a mass of administration," he said, "I would like to see this army brought up to date."

In the 4th Division now practically all officers and men wear the black beret and the badges of the armored corps. Regimental caps and badges are passing out of fashion although the general has not yet insisted on complete uniformity. That is the way he wants it. He wants his men to feel they are members of the division and not of the "Mudshires Fusiliers."

"Unit esprit de corps is all very well," said Gen. Worthington, "but it must go higher. We don't want petty jealousies between units. We don't want one unit taking pride in being better than another. We want each unit to be ready to help the other if necessary."

He then went on to say he would carry the idea even higher than the division, to the army as a whole.

"I think we should scrap the whole army system as we have it both in Britain and Canada and have a Royal Army or a Royal Canadian Army."

Washington People Asked To Be Alert

OLYMPIA, Wash. (CP)—Governor Langlie has requested the people of Washington to be on the alert for landings on the state's coast of enemy saboteurs, and to report any mysterious activity to the nearest military commander, or to the state patrol.

The chief executive's request to the public was made at the suggestion of Gen. DeWitt of San Francisco, who said recent developments along the Atlantic demonstrated possibilities of sabotage within the boundaries of the Pacific coastal states by enemy saboteurs landing on sparsely populated areas.

"To counter such possibilities, vigilant observation must be maintained for strange objects on the beaches, such as collapsible boats, and the like," said the general.

'Favorite Blonde' Coming to Atlas

Fastest and funniest of the long line of Bob Hope screen hits, the new Paramount comedy, "My Favorite Blonde," will wend its merry way into the Atlas Theatre tomorrow, with Madeleine Carroll sharing stardom with Hope.

"My Favorite Blonde"—Madeleine in the title role, of course—presents Hope as a ham vaudeville actor who has obtained a Hollywood contract because of his partner, Percy, a trained penguin.

Gale Sondergaard heads the spy gang and has the assistance of such screen villains as George Zucco, Lionel Royce, Walter Kingsford, Victor Varconi, Otto Reichow and Crane Whitley.

Amateurs Present 10 Snappy Acts

Amateurs today had heading for stardom tomorrow, can well be said, of the young and clever artists assembled in Major Bowes' 1942 All-Star Revue which will be the stage show at the Capitol on Wednesday and Thursday. What these youngsters have accomplished and what their chances are of further accomplishments can be gauged when audiences see these dancers, singers and instrumentalists do their stuff on the stage. This revue presentation contains 10 big acts, every one a headliner and chosen in keen competition from hundreds who appeared throughout the season on the Major Bowes' popular radio broadcasts. They're all new, all different. On the screen, "Grand Central Murder."

YORK THEATRE
Among the many interesting personages passing in review before the camera in Herbert Wilcox's historical epic of the Victorian era, "Sixty Glorious Years," produced in Technicolor for RKO Radio, and now being shown at the York Theatre, there is one figure, of humble origin but of undoubted prominence, who was neither statesman, warrior or author. This is John Brown, personal servant to Her Majesty.

The burly Highlander, conspicuous in bonnet and kilt of the Stuart pattern, was for many years the faithful attendant of the queen and accompanied Victoria wherever she went.

On Wholesale Row

Prices of hothouse tomatoes took a 15 per cent increase today, according to wholesale officials, and lemons jumped another 10 per cent. Supply of this fruit is slightly short. Oranges are cheaper.

Raspberries and logans are taking the place of strawberries, a plentiful supply expected. Local apples are expected in city markets shortly, with interior crops already making their appearance. Good weather conditions in the Okanagan district assure a heavy crop this season.

'DR. BROADWAY' AT DOMINION

"Doctor Broadway" is at Dominion Theatre. MacDonald Carey, co-star of Gertrude Lawrence in the stage play, "Lady in the Dark," is teamed here with Jean Phillips, Paramount starlet, in a comedy-melodrama filled with colorful characters. Carey is a physician who knows the great White Way. Miss Phillips is his receptionist. A man he had sent to prison and who is now dying, asks Carey to locate a daughter and give her a fortune, but others think they have prior claims and it takes all the doctor's pals to block the fortune-seekers.

OAK BAY AND PLAZA THEATRES
The most elaborate modern interiors to be constructed in Columbia's history were built for Wesley Ruggles' "You Belong to Me," the Barbara Stanwyck-Henry Fonda comedy, now at the Oak Bay and Plaza Theatres, with Edgar Buchanan, Roger Clark, Ruth Donnelly and Melville Cooper.

As a background for the ultra-modern story of a wealthy playboy who marries a beautiful woman doctor, the sets include two mansions, a rustic mountain ski lodge, offices and salutes in a professional medical building, a

2 NEW STARS IN MYSTERY HIT

Two of the brightest star prospects in Hollywood, Van Heflin and Patricia Dane, are teamed for the first time in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Grand Central Murder," opening tomorrow at the Capitol Theatre. Both have been under contract to M-G-M just one year, and already have proved their ability to scale the stellar heights.

Heflin is the actor who wowed Broadway while playing opposite Katharine Hepburn in the stage production of "The Philadelphia Story."

When Miss Hepburn invaded Hollywood to put her play on the screen, Heflin followed and asked for a movie test at M-G-M, got it, and made such an impression that he was awarded a long-term contract.

Miss Dane made her screen debut as a chorus girl in "Ziegfeld Girl." Her beauty brought a contract and the lead opposite Mickey Rooney in "Life Begins for Andy Hardy."

RIO THEATRE
One of the most pleasant jobs in Hollywood went to Ragnar Qvale, Norwegian skiing instructor. Qvale has his own school at Snow Valley, near Arrowhead Springs, and the 20th Century-Fox studio sent him six models from New York. They were to be used in the new film, "Sun Valley Serenade," which stars Sonja Henie and John Payne, and is now at the Rio Theatre.

As there is much skiing in this picture, it was Qvale's very happy job to instruct these beautiful girls in skiing—and he really enjoyed it.
